PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Future Economy

Singapore's GDP growth grew by 2.0% in 2016, compared to 1.9% in 2015. Amidst global economic uncertainties, the Ministry of Trade and Industry forecasted that the economy would grow by 1-3% in 2017.

To chart Singapore's next phase of growth, the Committee on the Future Economy (CFE) had on 9 Feb 2017 released its report laying out seven strategies and called for collaborative efforts to achieve GDP growth of 2-3% through productivity growth of 1-2% annually. On 1 May 2017, Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong announced that The Future Economy Council would be formed to drive the implementation of these strategies.

The future economy would be characterised by workforce demographic changes and technological disruptions. Workforce growth slowed from over 100,000 annually between 2010 and 2014 to 23,300 in 2015 and 8,600 in 2016. It is expected to grow by between 25,000 and 40,000 annually in the next few years. Productivity growth is crucial to sustain competitiveness and to overcome slower manpower growth.

In the transition, productivity grew only by 0.5% annually between 2010 and 2015 but has improved to 1.0% growth in 2016.

Global research has shown that the more transformative the technology introduced, the longer it would take for companies to adapt[1] to raise productivity. According to a SNEF survey, employers reported that they reaped only half the expected productivity gains after one to three years of taking action. They cited the main reasons to be the lack of a culture of excellence and workforce adaptability. Successful organisational transformation will require corresponding workplace and workforce transformations.

Bold Transformation

Transformation is most effective when it is done pre-emptively. Employers must not wait for threats to emerge or in time of crisis to begin transforming. Employers need to transform boldly by setting ambitious targets and be willing to make radical changes to seize new opportunities.

To support organisational transformation, the SNEF Agency for Productivity Practices, Human Resource and Industrial Relations (SAPPHIRE) was officially launched on 16 February 2017 by the Minister for Manpower Mr Lim Swee Say.

SAPPHIRE will help companies to drive workplace transformation by integrating productivity practices, human resource and industrial relations. These efforts are aligned to the recommendations of CFE to help SMEs to build new capabilities, transform and grow.

At the launch, there were 20 early-adopters or SAPPHIRE "star blazers" who committed to embark on the programme. SNEF aims to get 100 companies on board SAPPHIRE within the first year.

Responsible Transformation

In the process of transformation, employers should prepare workers by engaging, communicating and motivating them to adjust and embrace technology and changes. The capability of the workforce must be elevated. Workers must be given opportunities to acquire and utilise deep skills to stay relevant. Labour-management cooperation will be key to successful transformation. I urge employers and their unions to work together to transform their relationship into a stronger partnership to facilitate this.

Nevertheless, some job losses would still be inevitable due to restructuring. Working with our tripartite partners, we have issued guidelines on managing excess manpower and responsible retrenchment to encourage employers to take a long-term view of their manpower needs.

The Federation also helps to place jobseekers in companies through P-Max Place-and-Train programme and the Professional Conversion Programme (PCP). Under P-Max, we have assisted over 900 SMEs to recruit, train, manage and retain 900 new PMET hires since its inception in Feb 2015. SNEF was appointed in March 2017 by Workforce Singapore to administer PCP to provide greater support for mid-career PMETs to switch into new careers. We will render more assistance to members to hire better to reduce the risks of mismatches.

Transform and Grow SNEF in the Future Economy

The Federation is also going through transformation to ensure that it remains relevant and continues to play a strong role in the future economy through advancing tripartism and enhancing labour market flexibility to enable employers to implement responsible employment practices. We will continue to review and expand our programmes and services and do more to help companies, especially the small and medium-sized employers to excel at responsible employment practices.

I thank our 3,330 corporate members for your continued support and I look forward to working with you to advance the interests of employers in the years ahead.

The Second SNEF BeyondSG50 CEO & Employers Forum

Marina Bay Sands
16 February 2017

The Forum themed "Bold and Responsible Leadership for Transforming Companies in the Future Economy" was attended by over 400 CEOs, Senior Management Representatives and HR Professionals from the private sector as well as senior government officials and union leaders.

Mr Hans-Paul Bürkner, Chairman of The Boston Consulting Group Pte Ltd, spoke about how companies can begin and sustain their transformation journeys.

Professor Annie Koh of Singapore Management University chaired the dialogue session with a panel comprising

a) Mr Bürkner
b) Mr Dan Chua, MD, CYC International Pte Ltd
c) Ms Cade Tan, COO, Strategy & Management, DBS Innovation Group, DBS Bank Ltd
d) Mrs Ng Gim Choo, Founder & Group MD, EtonHouse International Education Group
e) Mr Kenny Yap, Executive Chairman & Group CEO, Qian Hu Corporation Ltd
f) Ms Mariam Jaafar, Partner and Managing Director (Singapore), The Boston Consulting Group Pte Ltd

Launch of SAPPHIRE

At the close of the forum, Minister for Manpower, Mr Lim Swee Say, launched the SNEF Agency for Productivity Practices, Human Resource and Industrial Relations (SAPPHIRE).

Mr Lim said, "This initiative is timely as we transform faster with a workforce that is growing slower. SNEF is in a strong position to help more SMEs to transform and grow."

Supported by Workforce Singapore, SAPPHIRE aims to help companies develop into progressive lean organisations, and is underpinned by a strong human capital strategy to enhance competitiveness and sustain business growth. SAPPHIRE will offer five basic workplace transformation programmes to assist employers. This will be done through consultancy services, masterclasses, seminars and training interventions.

Dr Robert Yap, President of SNEF, said: "Global research studies have shown that successful business transformations require corresponding workforce and workplace transformation. In addition, the more transformative the technology introduced, the longer it takes for companies to adapt. To reap sustainable and significant productivity gains from our efforts, there is a need to integrate productivity practices with good HR and industrial relations practices. This is why SNEF developed SAPPHIRE."

In his congratulation message to SNEF, Mr Chan Chun Sing, Secretary-General of NTUC said, "The Labour Movement stands ready to work with and support companies in their transformation journey."

SAPPHIRE SNEF

Transform, Grow and Glow with SAPPHIRE in the future economy

SAPPHIRE, the acronym for SNEF Agency for Productivity Practices, Human Resource and Industrial Relations, was launched by the Minister for Manpower, Mr Lim Swee Say at the Second SNEF BeyondSG50 CEO and Employers Forum yesterday. SNEF had organised the first forum in January 2016 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Singapore's independence. The theme then was "Reset Management Intuition. Be Future Ready" to address challenges over the next 50 years.

This year, the theme was "Bold and Responsible Leadership in Transforming Companies in the Future Economy". This follows the release of the report of the Committee on the Future Economy (CFE). Dr Robert Yap, President, SNEF, explained the rationale for SAPPHIRE.

Why do companies need to transform?

Dr Yap: We want to help companies translate CFE's recommendations into reality. A key imperative has been economic and industry transformation. This can only happen when companies take steps to transform their business, organisations, workforces and workplaces.

Why bold and responsible leadership?

Dr Yap: Transformation needs leaders to have the willingness to make radical changes even when things are going well, to sustain growth amidst the many challenges and disruptions they face. We need to innovate and challenge traditional approaches to raise productivity. We need to take steps to be "leanerer" than what the Manpower Minister Lim Swee Say suggests. At the same time, employers must engage and communicate with workers about the challenges and processes; help workers to retrain; adapt and grow; and elevate the capabilities of the whole organisation at every level. We must also see the labour movement as a partner in the transformation journey.

Why SAPPHIRE?

Dr Yap: Sustainable gains and returns from business transformation depend very much on corresponding transformations in the workforce and workplace. This is corroborated by global research studies. The more transformative a technology, the longer it took for individuals and organisations to adapt and for companies to reap sustainable gains.

These findings led SNEF to conclude that to reap sustainable and significant productivity gains from any kind of investment, there is a need to integrate productivity efforts with progressive human resource and industrial relations practices.

SNEF, as a trade union of employers, has traditionally focused on industrial relations and tripartism as these provide the foundation for industrial peace for businesses. SAPPHIRE will leverage our core expertise and tripartite partners to help companies to adapt and transform their workplaces.

Learning from the experience of the SMEs which have started on their transformations and working with Workforce Singapore, we have put together a menu of five basic programmes to focus on older workers, human resource, learning, lean management and technology.

What is the response?

Dr Yap: We hope to bring 100 enterprises onboard in 2017 and scale up based on our experience. It is encouraging that we have 20 early adopters or Star Blazers as we call them.

Some transformation stories

1. Transforming the business model at PestBusters Pte Ltd

   Mr Thomas Fernandez (Chairman and CEO):

   "PestBusters Pte Ltd is a pest management company which is constantly innovating to set a new quality standard in its industry. It leverages technology to transform its business and learning culture, especially on-the-job training. Efficiency, service quality and the productivity of training process and trainers have all improved. PestBusters has also reduced its own maintenance costs by 50%."

2. Towards a safer and leaner enterprise at CYC International Pte Ltd

   Mr Dan Chua (Owner and Director):

   "CYC International Pte Ltd (CYC) started as a tank cleaning company in 1969. It has invested in robotics, multi-skilling and redeployment to transform itself into a safer and leaner enterprise. The benefits are reduction in safety risks, a 60% productivity gain, higher business capacity, as well as better jobs and higher wages for workers."

Mr Lim Swee Say,
Minister for Manpower

"I congratulate SNEF on the launch of SAPPHIRE. This initiative is timely as we transform faster with a workforce that is growing slower. SNEF, as the champion for progressive business and human resource practices, is in a strong position to help more SMEs to transform and grow.

Manpower will be our most precious human capital in the future economy. It will be the key driver and enabler of innovation and productivity, sustainability and growth. Employers who value and invest in the development of their employees, and create progressive workplaces to draw out the best in them, will succeed better and longer. I am confident that SAPPHIRE which integrates aspects of human resource, industrial relations, and productivity practices, will help companies based in Singapore to prepare better as we venture into the future economy, together as tripartite partners.

I urge companies, especially small and medium-sized enterprises, to make good use of the programmes offered under SAPPHIRE.

My best wishes to SNEF and participating companies on this journey of transformation and growth!"

Mr Chan Chun Sing,
Secretary-General,
National Trades Union Congress

"My congratulations to SNEF on the establishment of SAPPHIRE.

Productivity growth will help keep our companies competitive and sustain wage increases for our working people. A shared belief and sustained efforts are required from all tripartite partners to transform workplaces to raise productivity. Our working people will also need to be continuously upskilled to be ready for evolving changes at the workplace.

Together with MOM and SNEF, the Labour Movement stands ready to work with and support companies in their transformation journey. We have to gear Singaporeans up for the future economy. Through these efforts, we are taking care of our workforce not just for today, but to prepare them for the jobs of tomorrow.

I wish SNEF and all companies success in their transformation efforts."

Dr Robert Yap,
President,
Singapore National
Employers Federation

"SNEF has been a key player in the tripartite partnership with the Government and the labour movement, effectively representing and advancing the interests of employers.

SNEF is proud to launch SAPPHIRE, an initiative to help employers to become progressive lean organisations through workplace transformation.

For a start, SNEF has worked with Workforce Singapore (WSG) and various knowledge partners to put together five Workplace Transformation Programmes to assist employers.

I congratulate the first 20 SAPPHIRE star blazers and encourage companies to select the programmes that best meet their needs and begin their own transformation journey from where they are.

I thank MOM, NTUC and WSG for their support to make SAPPHIRE possible and I wish all companies success in their transformation."

The Second SNEF BeyondSG50 CEO Roundtable

"Bold and Responsible Leadership in Organisational Transformation"

Marina Bay Sands
17 February 2017

Forty CEOs gathered at a 12-metre round table to dialogue with the Minister for Manpower Mr Lim Swee Say and the Secretary General of NTUC Mr Chan Chun Sing, facilitated by President SNEF Dr Robert Yap.

The second roundtable focused on the challenges faced by CEOs in leading bold and responsible transformation in their organisations in the future economy. The dialogue addressed challenges, such as global competition, rapid technological changes and manpower constraints, to better position Singapore to achieve sustainable inclusive growth.

Said Dr Yap, "The roundtable is an opportunity for CEOs to discuss issues in depth and share ideas on transformation challenges. It also provides a platform for the tripartite partners to understand one another's concerns and seek alignment on the way forward."

Tripartite Retreat 2017

The second Tripartite Retreat, hosted by NTUC, was held on 20 Jan 2017 at Orchid Country Club. This is an annual event for the tripartite partners to share their workplans and seek alignment.

Tripartite leaders and the senior management team of each partner came together and discussed manpower issues in the future economy. The discussion was fruitful as action plans were developed for the tripartite partners to work together to achieve win-win-win outcomes.

SKILLSFUTURE

The SkillsFuture Fellowship and SkillsFuture Employer Awards

In Nov 2014, Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong announced the establishment of the SkillsFuture Fellowship and the SkillsFuture Employer Awards. The awards will help shape the public understanding of SkillsFuture through celebrating role models (individuals and employers) who embody the ethos of the SkillsFuture movement, as well as to build a Society of Fellows (individuals) over time that can help to drive awareness of and community/industry involvement in the SkillsFuture movement. The President of Singapore will be the patron of the SkillsFuture Awards.

The objective of the SkillsFuture Fellowship is to recognise and develop Singaporeans with deep skills, helping them achieve mastery in their respective fields. The cash award is $10,000 per award recipient.

For the SkillsFuture Employer Award, the objective is to recognise exemplary employers which support their employees on their skills acquisition and utilisation journey. The recognition will be a trophy, publicity and the use of an Awards logo.

SNEF was appointed by SkillsFuture Singapore to be the Programme Manager for the awards for an initial period of three years. We have reached out to over 5,600 employers through mailers, employer briefings and direct engagement with organisations.

As at 21 April 2017, we received 317 applications for the Fellowship and 51 applications for the employer awards. A tripartite judging panel would select 30 individuals and 10 employers as the award recipients.

CENTRE FOR EFFECTIVE WORKPLACES

Our workplace landscape is transforming through changes in technology, lifestyle and demographics. The Centre for Effective Workplaces (CEW) recognises the importance to help our members create flexible, inclusive, safe and healthy workplaces for win-win outcomes in today's competitive business environment. We have done these through:

- On-site consultations
- Seminars and workshops to keep members abreast of initiatives and trends
- Platforms for members to network and share experiences e.g. focus group discussion, industrial meetings and CEO luncheons
- Tapping on available Government grants
- Representations at tripartite committees and workgroups to influence policies and legislation

Flexible Workplaces

By helping employers to put in place Work-life strategies which enable staff to better manage responsibilities at work alongside their family and personal needs, CEW encourages employers to adopt the Work-Life Grant which supports companies in implementing and sustaining work-life strategies, particularly flexible work arrangements and also co-funds the use of technology to support these implementations. We have successfully assisted 414 companies to tap on the grant.

Easier, Safer and Smarter Workplaces

Building on our efforts over the past few years, CEW conceptualised a Job Redesign Clinic in 2016 for employers to help them create easier, safer and smarter jobs so that older workers can be gainfully employed. This clinic had attracted 42 employers. The Job Redesign Grant provides funding for employers to do so and we have successfully benefitted 21 employers to come on board the grant. In partnership with NTUC and MOM, we jointly developed a Job Redesign Toolkit to provide companies with a systematic approach to job redesign. Learning journeys were also organised for employers to share best workplace practices with participants.

Age-friendly Workplaces

Taking the lead to co-organise the annual age management seminar on 1 Nov 2016, in partnership with tripartite partners, we showcased good age management practices which attracted more than 250 employers and launched the Age Management @

Workplace course programme administered by the Singapore University of Social Studies. The Age Management Grant provides funding for employers to adopt progressive age management practices and we have successfully assisted 199 employers to tap on the grant during the year in review.

Safer and Healthier Workplaces

Recognising the importance of workplace safety and health practices to create a safer and healthier workplace, we supported the adoption of Total Workplace Safety and Health (TWSH), by providing TWSH resources and promoting it to more than 260 employers. Through workshops and briefings, we also guided members in developing effective risk management to prevent injuries and ill health at their workplaces.

For the year in review, the team has actively reached out to more than 9,000 employers and assisted more than 800 organisations in obtaining Government grants through a series of engagements which includes:

- Learning Journey – Lawry's – 18 May 2016

TRIPARTITE AND STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

TRIPARTITE ALLIANCE LIMITED

Championing Fair Employment Over The Past Decade

Creating Awareness with a view to Change Mindsets

From creating awareness of fair employment practices to enabling employers to adopt progressive practices, TAFEP has played a critical role in shaping the right behaviour in workplaces. When TAFEP first established itself in 2006, it was to address workplace discrimination issues faced by older workers and other workforce segments. To do this, TAFEP launched a nationwide campaign in 2008 to create awareness of fair employment practices with a focus on skills and ability. The Tripartite Guidelines on Fair Employment Practices was subsequently launched in 2007 with the aim to provide employers with greater clarity on what fair employment practices are. In 2011, TAFEP enhanced the Tripartite Guidelines on Fair Employment Practices to include a section on "Hiring and Developing a Singaporean Core". This was to help ensure that Singaporeans remain the core of our workforce and businesses provide job opportunities for Singaporeans on a sustainable basis.

Enabling Employers for adoption of Fair Employment Practices

Moving beyond awareness, TAFEP worked hard to enable employers to adopt fair employment practices. Rather than only focusing on specific issues and assisting companies in those areas, TAFEP now reviews the full spectrum of the company's employment practices for possible gaps and equips the companies with resources and tools to bridge these gaps. To enable employers to implement age management and work-life initiatives, TAFEP offers training workshops and customised on-site advisory services to organisations that have signed the Employers' Pledge of Fair Employment Practices. The Fair@Work Promise is the latest initiative launched in 2016, which aims to make individuals aware of their own bias and stereotypes and encourage them to change their negative mindsets. Over 7,300 have made the Fair@Work Promise since its launch last February. That same year, TAFEP started a phone advisory service known as the Employer Advisory Service (EAS@TAFEP) to further engage employers on employment-related matters. This service has since expanded to include an on-site consultation service for employers who prefer to clarify employment-related scenarios in person.

TAFEP staff celebrates 10 years of promoting fair and progressive workplaces in Singapore!

Shaping employers' behaviour by recognising the good and correcting the bad

From enabling employers, TAFEP then moved on to being an advocate and champion for progressive employment practices. In 2014, TAFEP expanded its scope to include age management and work-life harmony, incorporating "Progressive" to its name. This move from fair to progressive practices was accompanied by the launch of the Fair Consideration Framework which requires firms to consider Singaporeans fairly for job opportunities. In recent years, TAFEP has also become more vocal and visible by actively championing fair and progressive employment and taking a stronger stance on discriminatory issues. TAFEP plays an active role in looking into discrimination complaints, and refers cases to MOM for investigation where warranted. In deserving cases, MOM would curb the work pass privileges of the offending company. In tandem with our expanded mission to encourage employers to adopt progressive practices, the 2016 edition of the TAFEP Exemplary Employer Award saw a revamp of the award categories and evaluation criteria. In particular, the "I-Future" award made its debut last year to recognise forward-looking organisations that adopt holistic strategies to prepare for future developments. Despite the stringent criteria, TAFEP saw a growing number of companies being recognised as exemplary employers, with 9 out of 15 winners being first time entrants.

Developing the future workforce

TAFEP's decade-long journey has been an exciting one and will continue to be so for the next few decades. As Singapore evolves from a "manpower-led" to a "manpower-lean" economy, employers will need to value workers as precious human capital for investment, rather than human resources to be consumed. To empower progressive companies and promote the culture of best practices to more workplaces, Manpower Minister Lim Swee Say launched the Human Capital Partnership (HCP) Programme at TAFEP's 10th anniversary celebration in November 2016. As the manager for the HCP Programme, TAFEP will strive to build a strong community of exemplary employers and help to identify suitable Human Capital Development (HCD) programmes that will best meet their HCD needs.

Harnessing the strengths of tripartism

Being a tripartite entity has helped TAFEP to advance our work in the areas of fair and progressive employment practices. By leveraging the different strengths and networks of employers, unions and the government, TAFEP has helped employers to optimise the talent of mature employees as well as put in place work-life initiatives. TAFEP has been an agent of change when it comes to assisting employers in fair, responsible and progressive employment practices. However, even in a progressive organisation, it is inevitable that employment disputes would arise between employers and employees from time to time. In order to resolve these issues amicably, the tripartite partners decided to take a bold step to set up the Tripartite Alliance for Dispute Management (TADM). Launched recently on 31 March 2017, TADM provides employees and employers with advisory and mediation services to resolve employment disputes. In addition to the above, TADM will also work with partner agencies to provide training and career support services, where workers and employers can look forward to a holistic suite of services at one location.

Moving forward under TAL

In an effort to institutionalise tripartism, both TADM and TAFEP will come under a new company called the Tripartite Alliance Limited (TAL). The formation of TAL is a big step forward by the tripartite partners. Heading the TAL board is Mr Stephen Lee, ex-President of SNEF. Jointly owned by MOM, NTUC and SNEF, both TAFEP and TADM will be housed together at the Devan Nair Institute for Employment and Employability (DNI) to provide a one-stop service for employers and employees on employment-related matters. With the combined expertise, knowledge and experience of members from the Government, Employers and Unions, TAL will be the driving force in fostering an inclusive employment landscape and preserving workplace harmony so employers can grow their businesses, and employees can grow their careers.

GLOBAL COMPACT NETWORK SINGAPORE

Global Compact Network Singapore (GCNS) is the national lead agency promoting Corporate Sustainability, providing a one-stop concierge and knowledge services for businesses to begin, deepen and broaden their sustainability journey. On 1 April 2016, the Sustainable Development Business Group (SDBG) of SBF was formally integrated with GCNS. The combined entity now conducts its operations as GCNS. The SBF, together with NTUC and SNEF, are Principal Members of GCNS.

Ms Goh has been Chairman of Shell Companies in Singapore since October 2014, making her the first female country chair for Shell here. Concurrent to her country chair role, she is also Vice President, City Solutions, in the Shell New Energies business.

GCNS was appointed by SGX to organise workshops to train listed companies on sustainability reporting. The first tranche of training commenced in February 2017, with more to follow.

SNEF-TP 8th Structured Human Resource Internship Programme (SHIP)

13 September 2016 – 25 November 2016

SNEF and Temasek Polytechnic (TP) organised the 8th Structured Human Resource Internship Programme (SHIP) for TP students majoring in Diplomas in Business with an elective in Human Resource Management.

The programme would allow SHIP interns to gain rare insights into the employment practices, policies and issues in Singapore through a week-long series of talks, briefings and on-site visits to SNEF, MOM, the Industrial Arbitration Court, NTUC, the Workplace Safety and Health Council and TAFEP.

The HR team from SNEF member, The Esplanade Co Ltd, took time to share with the interns their HR and corporate structure and policies, offering students insights to the role of HR and the challenges they faced.

Students pledging their support and promise for the TAFEP "Fair at Work Promise"

After the first week, the interns were assigned to companies for a 10-week industrial attachment which would enable them to gain practical working experience and knowledge on HR.

We wish the SHIP interns success in their future endeavours.
