Date: 16th.November.2012

On behalf of Kasese United Humanist Association i am happy to pass on this Information in regard to our activities aimed at promoting the UN Global Compact Principles in our area of operation.

We have tried our level best to ensure we post the UN Global Compact Principles on our two websites and can be seen here <http://www.kaseseunitedhumanist.webs.com> and <http://www.kasesehumanistschool.webs.com>

There continue to be a display of the UN Global Compact Principles since our organization was registered as a participant and the fact that our websites are visited by very many people all over the world giving them chance to know about them.

As our organization runs a school project under the names Kasese Humanist Primary School, we still continue to print out the principles and hanged them in all class rooms, Staff Room and on the School Notice board

In an effort to implement our programs, we recently embarked on a project in the field of Environmental conservation and Agriculture where we initiated Kasese humanist botanical gardens (KHBG), a project aimed at conserving tree species, plants , flora and its associated biodiversity. The gardens are being used for research, education and modern organic farming. The gardens are also going to act as a tourist destination at some time. More information about it is at www.khbotanicgardens.webs.com

We are engaged right now in briquette making where bio fuels in form of a series of Peterson briquettes machines our organization purchased made from Enviro Coal Uganda. The organization currently uses 4 machines.

We are however requesting the UN Global Compact, Uganda Chapter to keep us posted on all latest developments and Strategic plans in regard to the Global Compact Activities.

This is my brief report on what we are doing in regard to the UN Global Compact Principles awareness to our people right here in Kasese. We at Kasese United Humanist association are grateful to continue associating ourselves with the UN Global Compact.
