

Seabery management want to express its strong engagement with United Nations Global Compact policy and that is why we ask for a grace time to report our communication on progress (COP).

The main reason is that we have been focusing our efforts to deal with big difficulties due to the deep economic crisis that makes trying to bring out a new technology business very challenging. We have passed from 10 to almost 20 employees and combine research and development with setting up new manufacturing facilities and hiring new talent people to hold our internationalization process as the only way to survive.

We are also involved in gaining a new funding round to continue with our business plan to spread our augmented training technology to the global marketplace, and all of this trying to be always loyal to our strong commitment wit United Nations Global Compact policy.

We will be reporting our COP around 1/10/2013, before the grace period we are begging for here expires.

Thank You very much for your time and understanding.

Best regards from the sunny Huelva, in the South Atlantic coast of Spain.
