

United Nations Global Compact

January 27, 2011

In December 2009 Cheminova joined "The global Compact" see the enclosed CSR report 2009.

The Global Compact requires companies to develop, annually, a Communication on Progress (COP) report in order to promote transparency and accountability, showcase best practices and protect the 'investment' made by participants. The COP policy stipulates that companies communicate publicly to their stakeholders on progress made in implementing the Global Compact's ten principles, e.g. through their annual reports, sustainability reports and other prominent corporate communications.

This communication will be done in our yearly CSR report. The report for 2010 will be uploaded to the Global compact web side in the end of March 2011.

Best regards
