Dear Mr. Secretary-General,

I am pleased to write this statement testifying to SHEIN's corporate sustainability practices and principles-based approach to doing business. SHEIN supports the Ten Principles of the United Nations Global Compact on human rights, labor, environment, and anti-corruption—and we are committed to advancing the United Nations' broader sustainable development goals within SHEIN's strategy, culture, day-to-day operations, long-term projections, and partnerships.

We believe everyone should have the opportunity to access the latest fashions and that personal choice should not belong only to the privileged few who can afford premium goods, but to all those who seek beauty, regardless of age, culture, country, race, or social rank. That's why we apply our world class technology and operational capabilities to eliminate inefficiencies and waste in our supply chain, creating more access to the latest fashions, in the shortest time possible, so that everyone can enjoy the beauty of fashion. Our sustainability and social impact efforts focus on three areas: empowering entrepreneurs, helping communities thrive, and protecting the environment.

With these foundational elements, we believe we can positively impact four SDGs:

- SDG 5: gender equality
- SDG 8: decent work and economic growth
- SDG 9: industry, innovation, and infrastructure
- SDG 12: responsible consumption and production.

We recognize that a key requirement for participation in the UN Global Compact is the annual submission of a Communication on Progress (COP) that describes our company's efforts to implement the Ten Principles. We support public accountability and transparency, and therefore commit to report on progress within one year of joining the UN Global Compact, and annually thereafter according to the UN Global Compact COP policy.

Sincerely yours,

CEO, SHEIN
