H.E. António Guterres

Secretary-General

United Nations

New York, NY 10017 USA

Dear Secretary-General,

It is with great enthusiasm that I write to you on behalf of my co-workers at my company, Trusticate.io, to express mine and our interest in joining the United Nations Global Compact as a participant in its initiative to promote human rights, labor, environment, and anti-corruption standards. As the CEO of Trusticate, I am deeply and fully committed to aligning our company's values and practices with the United Nations' goals for sustainable development.

At Trusticate, we understand the importance of creating a sustainable future and recognize the critical role that businesses must play in achieving this goal. We are confident that joining the UN Global Compact will provide us with the necessary framework to establish more robust sustainability practices and to contribute to a more equitable and just world.

We are fully committed to integrating the Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact into our business strategy, culture, and operations. We believe that our participation in this initiative will allow us to engage in collaborative projects and contribute to broader development goals, particularly the Sustainable Development Goals.

In joining the UN Global Compact, we acknowledge the responsibility to report on our progress toward implementing the Ten Principles. We commit to submitting a Communication on Progress (CoP) report annually, which will outline our continuous efforts to integrate these principles into our business practices.

We pledge to support public accountability and transparency by providing our stakeholders and the general public with clear and concise reports on our sustainability efforts.

As a CEO, I am committed to upholding the principles of the UN Global Compact and believe that joining this initiative will enhance our company's reputation and foster a sense of pride among our employees, stakeholders, and customers.

Thank you for considering our application to join the United Nations Global Compact. We look forward to working with you to create a more sustainable and equitable world.

Sincerely,

Thorkild Grothe-Møller,

CEO, Trusticate
