

SRI JOYDIP ASHRAM PRESENTS

INTENTION 2015

The Future of Sustainable Development

Sustainable Development is considered as organizing principle for Human Life in Planet Earth . It is a practice, which can bring harmony between human and natural systems, that humans systems can meet there needs without undermining the natural systems, that enough remains for the future generation, that they can meet there needs. However with the present state of the world the future of sustainable development itself is in question. In February 16th and 17th ,2015 Sri Joydip Ashram an educational Trust , which has consulted 28 organization across 8 countries and a participant of UN Global Compact program, brings together thought leaders , Management Consultants , Corporate to start an global dialogue on the "future" of sustainable development itself , which is considered to keep our "future" of Human Beings in the planet earth alive. .

This is our Communication on Progress in implementing the principles of the United Nations Global Compact.
