JSR Group's System to Promote CSR United Nations Global Compact	17

Message from the President

The JSR Group renewed its Essential Elements (see pages 3 to 4) in April 2011, based on the idea of sharing the purpose of working among all our global group company members, while promoting individuals' self-motivation and voluntary initiatives.

We have also revised our code of conduct outlined in the "JSR Group: Principles of Corporate Ethics," to make it conform to the new section of our management policy, "Responsibility to Our Stakeholders," renaming it "Corporate Code of Conduct."

The aim is to make it clear that the Code of Conduct of the "JSR Group: Principles of Corporate Ethics" is designed to fulfill the responsibilities set forth in the management policies "Responsibility to Our Stakeholders." Moreover, the new Code of Conduct contains new principles that are indispensable for being a company more trusted by society, including biodiversity conservation, environmental friendliness in our supply chain, corporate social contribution, risk management, and the provision of more challenging opportunities for our employees.

As a member of society, the JSR Group needs to carry out our responsibilities to all our stakeholders. There sometimes may be business scenarios and situations in which you are not sure what to do, whether at the individual level or departmental level. In such cases, please refer to our management policies "Responsibility to Our Stakeholders" and the Code of Conduct so that you can choose to do the right thing.

Let's work together and strive to act in good faith to be deserving of social trust, as a good corporate citizen.

JSR Group's System to Promote CSR

United Nations Global Compact

On April 2009, the JSR Group became a participant in the Global Compact policy advocated by the United Nations. Amidst increasing calls for corporate social responsibility, further consideration is required of firms engaged in business activities on a global scale in respect to human rights, labor, the environment and anti-corruption, as expressed in the ten principles of the Global Compact. We consider joining the Global Compact to be a proclamation for acting responsibly in the international community, and we intend to work hard to proactively execute our "corporate social responsibility."

The 10 Principles of the United Nations Global Compact

- 1 Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights.
- 2 Businesses should make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.
- 3 Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining.
- 4 Businesses should uphold the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour.
- 5 Businesses should uphold the effective abolition of child labour.
- 6 Businesses should uphold the elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.
- 7 Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges.
- 7 Businesses should undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility.
- 9 Businesses should encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies.
- 10 Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery.
