REMEMBERING SINGAPORE'S FOUNDING PRIME MINISTER MR LEE KUAN YEW (1923-2015)

Mr Lee Kuan Yew passed away on 23 Mar 2015.

The business community led by the Singapore National Employers Federation (SNEF) and the Singapore Business Federation (SBF) organised a tribute to him on the 28th Mar 2015.

Mr Lee Hsien Yang and his wife were present on behalf of the family. The Minister for Trade and Industry Mr Lim Hng Kiang graced the event as well. Over 1,500 business and employer representatives attended the event.

In a media statement, SNEF said that Mr Lee's contributions to Singapore were immense. On the economic front, Singapore is today home to over 160,000 enterprises. Some 26,000 international companies including over 8,000 MNCs¹ are headquartered here. Singapore's GDP was S$390bn² in 2014. It was S$3bn in 1965. This is the legacy of Mr Lee's visionary leadership in creating a thriving, dynamic and competitive economy that has earned its place in the world.

When Singapore attained self-governance in 1959, there was strife among employers, unions and workers. Mr Lee and his Government exhorted them to cooperate and help the nation attract foreign investments. Mr Lee had a strong hand in enacting the Industrial Relations Act in 1960 to stabilise labour management relations to facilitate the expansion of industry and the creation of jobs. To forge a stable and yet flexible labour market, he took a personal interest in the Employment Act which was enacted in 1968 to regulate fair terms and conditions of employment. Both pieces of legislation laid the foundation for the industrial peace that employers and workers have enjoyed in Singapore over the last 50 years.

In 1972, his Government set up the National Wages Council (NWC) to ensure orderly wage increases as the economy started to expand rapidly and the potential for wage disputes loomed. NWC also paved the way for stronger cooperation among Government, unions and employers in many other areas in the years ahead.

Towards the end of the 1970s, as the economy powered ahead, the labour market tightened. He pushed to restructure the economy towards higher value-added activities and greater use of technology.

Mr Lee initiated the Productivity Movement in Sep 1981, setting the Singapore economy on the path to higher productivity. He spoke of the need for employers to win the hearts of workers and create a nexus between management and workers to motivate them to strive for higher productivity. He urged businesses to adopt the Japanese approach of company welfarism to look after their employees beyond wages. He was determined that productivity growth would secure Singapore's future by attracting quality investments, creating good jobs, raising wages and the standard of living for workers.

Over 1,500 business and employer representatives stood to observe a minute of silence for the late Mr Lee.

MR LEE KUAN YEW AND SNEF

SNEF and one of its predecessors, Singapore Employers Federation (SEF) had the privilege of hosting Mr Lee on several key occasions. At the annual dinner of SEF in 1967, Mr Lee emphasised the vital role of employers in building a rugged workforce that could persuade foreign companies to plant their Southeast Asian headquarters here, assuring them of Singapore's reliability.

Mr Lee was a special guest at SNEF's CEO conference in 1996 where he highlighted the challenges facing Singapore in the 21st century and emphasised the need for tripartism and to remain relevant to the world.

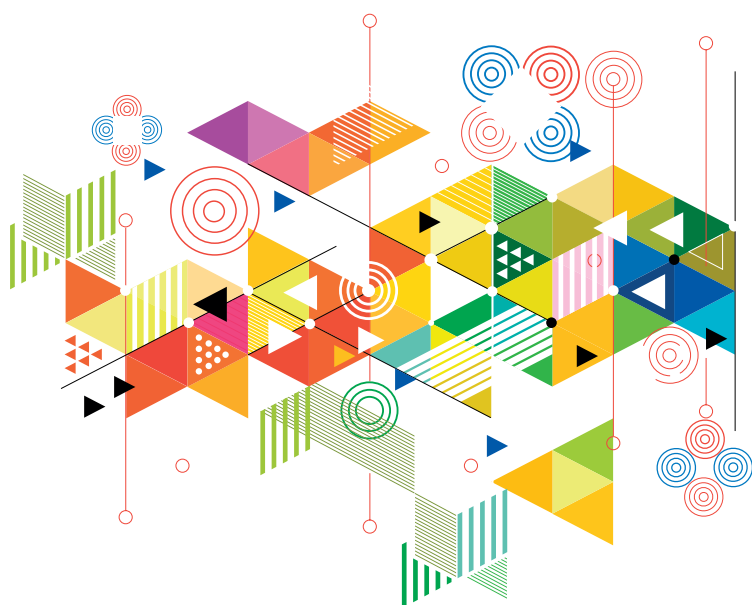

SNEF also hosted Mr Lee at our 30th Anniversary in 2010. He shared with the audience regarding challenges faced by leadership and management in raising productivity and managing the ageing workforce.

Hundreds penned their gratitude and farewell to Mr Lee.

LEADERSHIP RENEWAL

After 26 years at the helm, Mr Stephen Lee stepped down as President of SNEF on 31 Aug 2014. He was succeeded by Dr Robert Yap, Executive Chairman of YCH Group Pte Ltd.

For his contributions to tripartism and the Labour Movement, Mr Lee was conferred the Distinguished Comrade of Labour, the highest award for non-unionists, by NTUC in the 2015 May Day Awards. Mr Lee was described as a pillar of Singapore's tripartite movement.

In Aug 2015, Mr Lee was conferred the Order of Nila Utama (First Class), the third highest National Day award for his contributions and commitment to industrial peace and tripartism.

New Council for 2014-2016

As part of the leadership renewal process, Mr Lee and four other long-serving council members, Mr Bob Tan; Mr James Lee; Mr Steven Goh; and Mr Freddy Lam retired from the SNEF Council at the 34th AGM. A new council led by Dr Robert Yap was elected for a new two-year term.

At the AGM, Dr Yap said, "I am very pleased that many CEOs have stepped up to the plate to help lead SNEF. Council members are also actively involved in various areas of SNEF's work. Employers face many challenges over the next two years such as raising productivity, managing the manpower and skills shortage, adapting to changes in the workforce profile as well tackling rising business costs."

Dr Yap also reiterated that SNEF will continue to work with the various stakeholders to advance tripartism and enhance labour market flexibility to enable employers to implement responsible employment practices.

Retired Council Members to Provide Advice and Continuity

Mr Stephen Lee, Immediate Past President, will continue to assist SNEF in re-employment and NWC matters. Mr Bob Tan, Mr James Lee and Mr Steven Goh were appointed as Senior Advisors up to 31 Aug 2015 to assist the Federation.

YEAR IN REVIEW

The SNEF Council as at 31 Aug 2014.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dr Robert Yap

Raising Productivity Crucial for Sustainable Growth

The Singapore economy grew by 2.9 per cent in 2014, compared to the 4.4 per cent in 2013. Employment grew by 130,100 in 2014 or an increase of 3.7 per cent of total employment. As a result, labour productivity declined by 0.8 per cent, a reversal of 0.3 per cent growth in 2013. In the last four years, productivity only grew by 0.3 per cent per annum while real basic wage grew by 1.4 per cent per annum. This is not a sustainable scenario and we must redouble our efforts to raise productivity to sustain growth for businesses and to support wage increases for workers.

To help members, the Federation has carved out three priority areas. These are skills, workplace relations and organisational adaptability.

Productivity and Skills

In focusing on productivity, employers need to upgrade their organisational capability to take on higher value-added activities and to take advantage of new business opportunities.

Last year, SNEF helped nearly 4,000 companies to train 18,000 of their employees.

In Nov 2014, the SkillsFuture Council, chaired by Deputy Prime Minister Tharman Shanmugaratnam, was established as a national tripartite effort to develop the workforce to meet the future skills requirements of the economy.

Among the first initiatives under SkillsFuture was P-Max, launched by the Singapore Workforce Development Agency (WDA) on 18 Mar 2015. SNEF was appointed the programme manager for this initiative which helps Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) to better recruit, train, manage and retain Professionals, Managers and Executives (PMEs). It would also assist SMEs in the adoption of progressive human resource practices. I urge members to tap into our training programmes and make use of such schemes to enhance their Human Resources (HR) practices and employee skills.

Productivity and Workplace Relations

It is also important for employers to focus on strengthening employee relations to build a climate and culture for innovation and continuous improvement. The structure of the workforce is changing and we have to be proactive in tackling emerging workplace issues. For example, PMEs form about one-third of the resident workforce and their numbers are expected to increase. The amendments of the Industrial Relations Act, which came into force on 1 Apr 2014, extended the scope of representation of the rank-&-file unions to PMEs to pave the way to harmonise the interests of employees.

Another issue that will affect workplace relations is re-employment. As the workforce ages and its growth slows down, older workers will become a significant source of manpower supply. Employers must prepare to re-employ workers beyond the age of 65 to 67. This requires them to plan their manpower requirements early, assess the need for job redesign and retraining and put in place HR policies to support re-employment beyond 65. To assist employers in the smooth implementation, SNEF, together with the National Trades Union Congress (NTUC) and the Ministry of Manpower (MOM) have issued the Tripartite Advisory on Re-employment of Employees from Age 65 to 67.

At the same time, SNEF administers the WorkPro grant scheme to help employers to hire older workers. I hope members will make use of the scheme to tackle their manpower shortages. We have disbursed more than $6.5m to employers under the scheme.

It is important that we preserve and enhance industrial peace at the workplace so that we can work together with the government and the labour movement to keep our eye on raising productivity.

Productivity, Technology and Organisational Adaptability

Many studies have shown that there is a lag between investments into technology and the resultant productivity gains. According to one recent Citigroup report, the resurgence in US productivity between 1996 and 2004 is attributed to the fact that companies started to redesign their organisations to accommodate the new technologies that were introduced years earlier. By the mid-1990s, about 60% of the Fortune 500 companies had claimed to have invested in re-engineering efforts or planned to do so. Instead of simply inserting new technologies into current processes, companies need to re-engineer and radically redesign businesses to achieve significant productivity gains from technology. The more transformative a technology, the longer it may take for individuals, organisations and economies to adapt. There is still much to be gained from the digital economy but shifts in mindsets and organisation structures can take time.

Hence, we cannot expect that our investments into technology will improve productivity automatically. We need to encourage mindset changes as well as acceptance of new work structures and processes to develop adaptable organisations in order to reap productivity gains from these investments.

Management, HR and Tripartite Partners Working Together

To bring these 3 elements, namely skills, workplace relations and organisational adaptability together to raise productivity requires the concerted leadership and commitment of top management and their strategic partnership with HR to engage and mobilise the entire company. Concurrently, together with our tripartite partners, we will develop strategies to enhance the capabilities of the HR community. The Federation will also expand the range of our programmes and services to provide thought and practice leadership for HR so that our members can excel in responsible employment practices to achieve sustainable growth.

We will also re-organise our members into 17 clusters to better work with the Labour Movement and the Government to map out productivity and skills development strategies. These clusters will also mirror those which the SkillsFuture and the Productivity Councils are focusing on. In this way, our members can benefit more directly from their programmes and initiatives such as the sectoral manpower plans and skills framework.

Each member will continue to benefit from the advisory services provided by their assigned personal consultant. In addition, there will be widened opportunities for networking and learning among members, both in the same and across clusters, to facilitate the speedier dispersion of knowledge and experience. In this way, members can progress together.

Conclusion

I took over from Mr Stephen Lee who stepped down as President after 26 years. We will build on the foundations he has laid. The Council and I thank you for your continued support and look forward to working closely with you to take SNEF to greater heights.

REVIEW OF THE ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS CLIMATE

Economic Performance

Singapore's economy grew by 2.9% in 2014, slower than the 4.4% in 2013. The growth was led by the Finance and Insurance sector which expanded by 7.7%. Other sectors that performed well in 2014 included the Information and Communications sector which grew by 3.6% and the Construction sector which grew by 3.0%. For 2015, the Ministry of Trade and Industry had projected that the economy would grow by between 2.0% to 2.5%.

Singapore's inflation rate was 1.0% in 2014, compared to 2.4% in 2013. The lower global oil prices in addition to lower car prices and imputed rentals in owner-occupied accommodation would ease inflationary pressures. The inflation rate for 2015 was projected to average between -0.5% and 0.5%.

After an expansion of 0.3% in 2013, productivity declined by 0.8% in 2014. Between 2009 and 2014, productivity grew by 2.5% per annum.

Labour Market

Employment grew by 130,100 in 2014 as compared to 136,200 in 2013. About 92% of the employment gains or 119,700 were in the services sector.

The unemployment rate in Singapore was 2.0% in 2014, compared to 1.9% in 2013. Resident unemployment rate remained low at 2.7%.

As the Singapore economy continued to restructure, the number of workers retrenched increased from 10,540 in 2013 to 10,910 in 2014. Professionals, managers, executives and technicians (PMETs) made up two-thirds (66%) of those laid off in 2014.

Despite this, the labour market in Singapore remained tight with 143 job vacancies for every 100 job seekers in Dec 2014.

Focus on Productivity Growth in a Tight Labour Market

Last year, the tight labour market had put upward pressure on wages. The NWC noted that in order for Singapore to remain competitive and sustainable, real wage increases must be in line with productivity growth over the long term.

To improve productivity, firms were encouraged to tap on Government's initiatives including the Productivity and Innovation Credit (PIC) which had been extended until 2018, as well as the new PIC+ Scheme targeted at Small-and-Medium Enterprises (SMEs). The Government's Wage Credit Scheme was in place to help employers to manage rising labour costs while enabling them to retain, train and share productivity gains with their workers.

Given the tight labour market in 2014, NWC recommended the Government and employers to encourage the economically inactive to return to work. Employers could rely on Government's programmes like WorkPro to recruit and retain back-to-work women and older workers through more flexible and age-friendly workplace practices.

Wage Progression of Low Wage Workers

In order to help raise the wages of the low-wage workers, the NWC recommended a minimum built-in wage increase of $60 for workers earning up to a monthly basic salary of $1,000, same as in 2013 but higher than the $50 recommended in 2012. The proportion of firms which gave increments equal to or more than the NWC's recommended built-in wage increase in 2012 was 28% and 57% in 2013.

Employers were encouraged to adopt Progressive Wage Model (PWM) and to provide a clear progression path for their workers to upskill and upgrade. PWMs would allow firms to make better use of manpower and pay higher wages that were linked with the workers' job scopes, responsibilities and productivity levels.

Amendments to the Industrial Relations Act

In 2014, about one-third (30.1% or 633,000) of the resident's workforce was made up of Professionals, Managers and Executives (PMEs), up from 27% in 2004. By 2030, it was expected that two-thirds of the resident workforce would be PMEs. With more PMEs in the workforce, there would be more employment issues involving PMEs. Proactive measures would be necessary to strengthen the employer-employee relations and stabilise industrial relations. Therefore, the amendments to the Industrial Relations (IR) Act would allow PMEs to join rank-and-file unions for full representation.

The IR Act amendments took into account of employers' feedback that it would be more efficient and effective for employers to work with one union on productivity, staff development and industrial relations issues. They were all of the view that one company, one union would be best for management effectiveness and employees' representation.

To guide employers and unions in implementation, the Tripartite Guidelines on Extending the Scope of Union Representation were issued.

In addition, since 2002, unions were able to represent PMEs on individual basis on four industrial relations matters, namely on retrenchment, unfair dismissal, victimization and breach on employment contract.

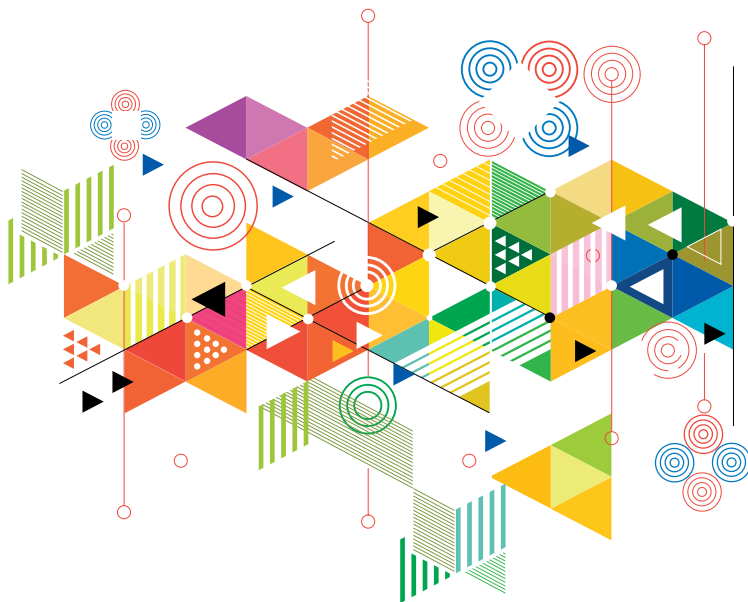

In the last amendment, re-employment dispute was also included as one of the industrial relations matters for limited representation. Tripartite Guidelines on Expanding the Scope of Limited Representation for Executives were also issued to assist employers with the implementation.

Tripartite Advisory on Re-Employment of Employees

Since the Retirement and Re-employment Act came into effective in 2012, the employment rate of workers aged 55-64 had increased from 61.2% in 2011 to 66.3% in 2014. This was one of the highest in the world. As such, the tripartite partners had been discussing on extending employment of older employees beyond the age of 65.

A Tripartite Advisory on Re-Employment of Employees was issued in Sep 2014 to assist employers to re-employ workers up to age 67 before legislation.

Since 2012, Special Employment Credit (SEC) was introduced to help employers who hire Singaporeans aged 50 and above. Employers would receive up to 8.5% of the employee's monthly wages for those aged 50 and above earning up to S$4,000 a month. To further support this effort, the Government had announced in its Budget 2015 to provide incentives for employers to hire employees beyond aged 65. The SEC was raised further by up to 3% of an employee's monthly wages for one year to encourage employers to voluntarily re-employ Singaporean employees aged 65 and above. Thus, employers who hire such employees in year 2015 will receive a total of up to 11.5% of an employee's monthly wages.

HIGHLIGHTS

Establishment of the SNEF-Stephen Lee Award

Mr Lee stepped down as SNEF President and was succeeded by Dr Robert Yap.

At the 34th Annual General Meeting, Dr Yap announced the establishment of the SNEF-Stephen Lee Award. This was done to recognise the commitment and dedication of Mr Lee to advancing tripartism, industrial peace and labour market flexibility to benefit both employers and their employees. The programme aims to develop senior executives who can provide the leadership for the SNEF secretariat and for employers to work with our tripartite partners to further strengthen tripartism and maintain industrial harmony to benefit all employers and workers in Singapore.

SNEF raised $3.3 million to fund the award. Over the next five years, SNEF would set aside $1.4 million, inclusive of $50,000 of seed money from Mr Stephen Lee. The NTUC, NTUC Fairprice, NTUC Income, NTUC Choice Homes and Mercatus together contributed $0.7 million. The MOM also contributed $0.7 million. The Singapore Labour Foundation (SLF) supported the tripartite effort by contributing $0.5 million.

Celebrating Tripartism: Appreciation Dinner for Mr Stephen Lee and Long Serving Council Members

The appreciation dinner for Mr Stephen Lee, and the other retired long-serving Council Members, Mr Bob Tan, Mr James Lee, Mr Steven Goh & Mr Freddy Lam was held on 7th Jan 2015. The five retired council members served in the council for a total of 146 years.

The theme of the dinner was “Celebrating Tripartism” to thank all the people who made tripartism work and supported SNEF over the years. The dinner was attended by past and present Ministers for Labour/Manpower, Presidents of NTUC, Secretary-Generals of NTUC and 600 members and friends from the tripartite partners. The council led by President Dr Yap sang “My Way” as their tribute to Mr Lee.

Learning Journey Series

This initiative was started in FY 2012/13 for members to learn new ideas and good HR practices from other employers in Singapore. In FY 2014/15, SNEF organised Learning Journeys to the Internal Security Department Heritage Centre for managing diversity at workplaces, Khoo Teck Puat Hospital for creating healthy workplaces, CISCO Systems for enhancing workplace flexibility and Goodrich Global Pte Ltd for attracting and managing PMEs in SMEs.

Tripartite leaders sang in unison: (from left) Minister of Manpower, Mr Tan Chuan-Jin; IPP of SNEF, Mr Stephen Lee and Secretary-General of NTUC, Mr Lim Swee Say

Mr Stephen Lee and the retired long-serving Council members, did a joyous toast to tripartism.

SNEF Salary Survey 2014

Excellent for Rewarding Talent

The SNEF Salary Survey reports provide employers in different industries with comprehensive and representative salary information. Into its 36th edition, the SNEF Salary Survey reports continued to be enhanced to ensure its relevancy to employers.

The cluster approach of grouping participating companies was first introduced in 2013 to enable SNEF Salary Survey report users to benchmark salary information against employers within the same industry and related industries. This approach provided better information for companies to derive competitive salaries to attract and retain talent. The information was also analysed by job grade to enhance the quality of the information and to enable companies to benchmark more accurately with the right job positions.

The SNEF Salary Survey 2014 reports covered salary information of over 400 job positions, both function and industry-specific across core industries, up from 340 in the 2013 edition.

SNEF Travel for Work

Enabling Efficiency, Empowering Effective Employees

The travel-related benefits scheme is an enabling tool that helps employees to be efficient and effective when carrying out their duties.

Research & Information combined the SNEF Transport Benefits for Executive and the Overseas Business Travel Benefits reports into the new and enhanced SNEF Travel for Work report. The report was a comprehensive source of information for employers to develop or review their travel-related benefits schemes.

The report covered more than twelve types of benefits under six main categories of employees including the Head of Organisation and Sales staff.

SNEF Employment Practices of Foreign Employees

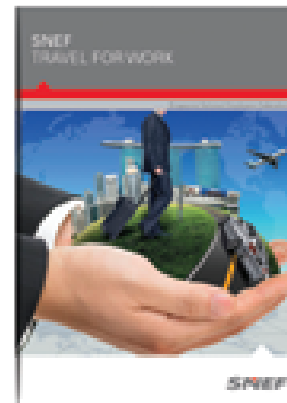

Diverse Workforce, Inclusive Workplace

The SNEF Employment Practices of Foreign Employees report was designed to help employers develop and review their employment practices and policies for foreign employees.

The report covered various categories of foreign employees from foreign Senior Management, Management and Executive/Professional (including those who had attained permanent resident status) and also employees on the levy schemes. This would help employers to benchmark and customise employment terms based on the categories of their foreign employees.

In the 3rd edition of the report, two new key features were introduced. Firstly, the information on foreign managers and executives was differentiated by Expatriate or Local Plus Terms. This allowed users to obtain the right information to tailor their HR policy for foreign managers and executives.

Secondly, a section on Workplace Diversity Management was added to share insights of prevalent practices on managing workforce diversity and integrating foreign employees at workplaces.

Employer Research & Information Sharing Sessions

Research & Information organises information-sharing sessions to keep members abreast of both current and long-term strategic manpower issues. We aim to assist employers in appreciating the labour market trends and plan ahead to overcome their manpower challenges.

Over 600 participants have benefited from these sharing sessions this year, up from about 500 participants in FY 2013/14.

Business Management WSQ

In FY 2014/15, SNEF trained more than 2,300 PME's from different business sectors.

International Certifications and Professional Designations

In a globalised and competitive economy, compensation practitioners need to understand and know how to manage compensation and benefits to attract and retain local and global talent.

Together with WorldatWork Society, an affiliate of World at Work (WorldatWork), a leading not-for-profit organisation providing education, conferences and research focused on global HR issues to attract, motivate and retain a talented workforce, SNEF offers three prestigious designations: Global Remuneration Professional (GRP®), the Certified Compensation Professional® (CCP®), and Work-Life Certified Professional® (WLCP®). These globally recognised designations, GRP®, CCP®, and WLCP® certifications, are designed specially for compensation, benefits and total rewards professionals operating in a multinational or global environment.

The GRP designation is earned by passing a required battery of ten Examinations. This professional designation is pursued by professionals and specialists from Human Resource, Compensation & Benefits and Finance. The GRP® / CCP® designation demonstrates that the recipient has the essential knowledge about integrating global reward programs with business strategy, designing and administering base and variable pay programs. The recipient is also conscious of the impact of globalisation and regional influences on the design and delivery of global reward programs and communication of total rewards program information. SNEF is proud to sponsor and facilitate classes and exams for these international certification & designations in Singapore. We trained 600 of such professionals in FY 2014/15.

Training and Adult Education WSQ

Under the Training and Adult Education (TAE) WSQ Framework, SNEF offers two complete tracks (i.e. Facilitated Learning and On-The-Job-Training) for Advanced Certificate in Training and Assessment (ACTA). This course equips professionals with the essential skills and knowledge to develop and deliver competency-based training and assessment across different industries. It also enables participants to interpret and meet WSQ Competency standards. We trained 1,300 professionals in FY 2014/15.

Generic Manufacturing Skills WSQ

SNEF offers courses under the tracks - Certified Operations Specialist (COS), Certified Operations Professional (COP) as well as Certified Associate Operations Executives (AOE). They support and facilitate specialised training and skills development to enhance the workforce, which will lead to an increase in the overall competitiveness and productivity of the industry. The COS certification enhances productivity on an operational and technical level. The COP certification focuses on concepts in supervising and managing areas of operations management. The AOE certification targets PMEs and equips them with the necessary skills in the areas of project management, business process management, quality management and people management.

In total, SNEF has trained 1,100 employees in FY 2014/15.

Customised Training Programmes

SNEF strongly encourages a corporate philosophy where effective management of human capital is the key to sustainable business success. We have assisted more than 1,000 companies in implementing their customised group training.

We are also exploring innovate new programs to help improve the skills of HR personnel in SMEs.

Please visit our website www.snef.org.sg for new updates on courses and programmes to develop talents in your organisation.

HR & IR ADVISORY SERVICES

Throughout the year, SNEF members continued to be serviced by the HR & IR Consulting Groups via telephone calls and e-mails. The total number of telephone inquiries and e-mails received was about 1700. Most of such inquiries and e-mails involved advice on implementation or members seeking a “third party opinion”. SNEF also undertook 30 to 40 HR projects within the year.

As a follow-up to the briefings to update members on the latest developments in labour legislation and manpower issues, a total of 25 Industry Groups meetings were held to further explain and assist members in the implementation of the changes in labour legislation and other HR & IR issues. These meetings allow members to network and understand how the above-mentioned matters are applied in line with respective industrial sector practices. A total of 930 participants attended the meetings.

In addition, a total of 32 HR & IR courses were conducted by HR & IR Consulting Groups for the benefit of members. This included both courses conducted in-Centre, at TAFEP, as well as In-Company.

CENTRE FOR EFFECTIVE WORKPLACES

The Centre for Effective Workplaces helps members to develop workplaces that are flexible, inclusive, safe and healthy.

We do this through:

- On-site consultations
- Representation at tripartite committees and workgroups to influence policies and legislation
- Regular seminars and workshops to keep members' abreast of initiatives and trends
- Platforms for members to network and share experience
- Guidance and assistance on various government grants

In FY 2014/15, the team reached out to more than 3,500 employers under various outreach platforms and assisted more than 1,000 organisations in obtaining financial support through the various government grant schemes. Our assistance includes:

- a. About $44 million in Workpro grants to be disbursed to 1,177 organisations

Workpro supports employers to establish age-friendly workplaces; implement or enhance flexible work arrangements and create employment opportunities for mature workers and back-to-work locals.

In collaboration with tripartite partners, the Centre also developed the 'Employer's Guide to Breastfeeding at the Workplace' and the 'Tripartite Advisory on Flexible Work Arrangements'.

As part of the National Work-Life on the 22 - 26 Sep 2014, the Centre organised learning journeys for more than 170 members to learn how other organisations established work-life practices and implemented programmes and IT infrastructures that support flexible work arrangements. A segment on workplace health promotion was also introduced at the Work-Life conference to discuss the implementation of a holistic workplace health promotion programme. This was attended by representatives from 157 organisations.

b. $248,000 in community integration grants to be disbursed to 21 organisations

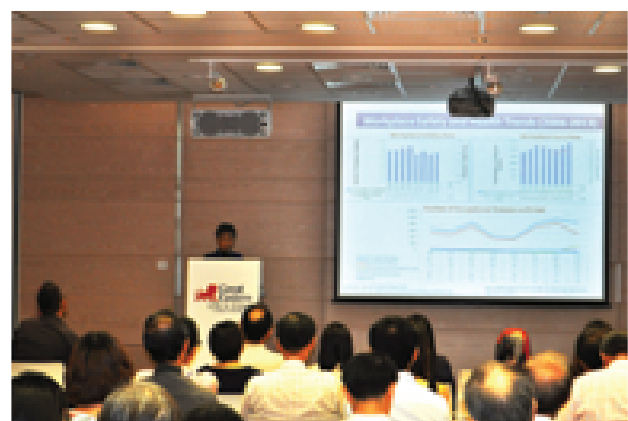

The grants support employers to better manage their diverse workforce and promote inclusiveness and integration initiatives for locals and non-locals at the workplace.

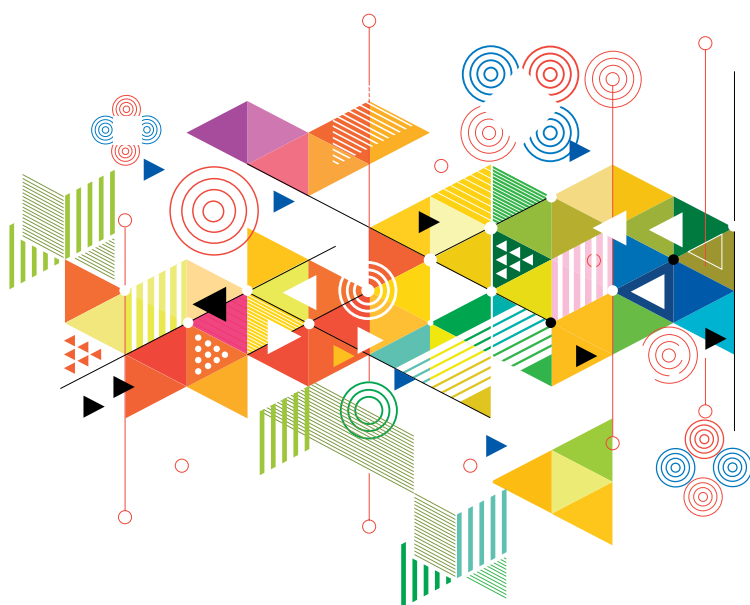

Since the inception of the Workplace Integration Programme in 2013, the Centre has reached out to over 1,000 employers through a series of industry sharing sessions, seminars, CEO luncheons and briefings where good practices, resources, concepts of diversity and inclusion were shared. Insights from meetings were captured in a publication entitled: Diversity and Inclusion. The team has also expanded the network of Senior HR Practitioners and Business Leaders championing integration initiatives at company and industry level from the initial 11 to the current 25 in FY 2014/15.

c. $5.9 million in Workplace Health Promotion grants to be disbursed to 537 organisations

The grants help employers to implement and sustain workplace health programmes by developing organisational policies, environmental intervention measures as well as personal lifestyle and health skills.

To enhance the safety, health and wellbeing of employees and to cultivate good safety habits in all individuals at workplaces, the Centre also partnered with the Workplace Safety Council to introduce the concept of Total Workplace Safety and Health (WSH) and organised a series of workshops which were attended by representatives from more than 800 organisations.

TRIPARTITE & STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

TRIPARTITE ALLIANCE FOR FAIR AND PROGRESSIVE EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES (TAFEP)

TAFEP had an eventful year in FY 2014/15. It added two new areas to its work scope, presented two different awards to recognise the efforts of both the employers and individuals and conducted research to improve understanding of fair and progressive employment practices. The following is an overview of the key activities that took place during the year:

Expansion of Scope

Since Apr 2014, TAFEP has expanded beyond its core role of addressing workplace discrimination to also promote work-life harmony and positive age management practices. With the expanded scope, TAFEP is now known as “Tripartite Alliance for Fair and Progressive Employment Practices”.

Steady Increase in Number of Pledge Signers

In 2014, the number of employers who have signed the Employers’ Pledge of Fair Employment Practices increased to 3,779. This represents a 12-fold increase from the 287 employers who signed the Pledge when it was first introduced in 2006, indicating that more employers are convinced of the need to be fair and progressive.

TAFEP Exemplary Employer Award

The TAFEP Exemplary Employer Award recognises and celebrates the achievements of organisations and individuals who have been outstanding in implementing fair and progressive employment practices. In 2014, the Award received 30 percent more submissions, including 1.5 times more submissions from SMEs. This shows that fair and progressive employment practices can be implemented successfully in organisations of all sizes. Eight organisations won the coveted TAFEP Exemplary Employer Award.

Work-life Excellence Award (WLEA) and Work-life Week

In Nov 2014, the WLEA was presented to 43 organisations and individuals with exceptional success in promoting greater flexibility and work-life harmony. Two new award categories were introduced: the Work-Life Sustained Excellence Award and Work-Life Star Award. Following the WLEA, the Work-Life Week, a week-long series of activities, was organised to continue the conversation on work-life harmony.

Survey on State of Work-Life Practices

To better understand the state of work-life practices in Singapore, TAFEP (through Employer Alliance, now a part of TAFEP) partnered The Straits Times to commission a nationwide survey. The survey examined the perceptions, expectations and desires of employers and employees. Most employers were found to be supportive of work-life initiatives while employees were generally positive about the overall state of their work and life outcomes.

Encouraging Employers to Tap on the Experience of Older Workers

In Jun 2014, TAFEP partnered the Tripartite Committee on Employability of Older Workers to launch the “Tap into a Wealth of Experience” campaign. The campaign aimed to encourage more employers to see the value of older workers. In addition, TAFEP also partnered Lianhe Zaobao to organise the “Workplace Heroes” contest, which honoured individuals who are over 50 years old and have made a difference at the workplace. Through the contest, TAFEP aimed to show that everyone has a part to play in creating an inclusive workplace, regardless of their age or job scope.

SINGAPORE TRIPARTISM FORUM (STF)

STF was launched in 2007 by the tripartite partners – the MOM, NTUC and the SNEF – as the key platform to institutionalise and further enhance the working relationship among the partners.

Over the years, STF has organised seminars, events and dialogue sessions, with the key objective of engaging employers, unions and government representatives on key national and manpower challenges facing Singapore.

The events and activities organised by the tripartite partners in FY 2014/15 were:

STF 4th Tripartite Leadership Programme (TLP)

The fourth run of the STF TLP was held on 2 and 3 Apr 2014 for the local module and from 7 to 10 Apr 2014 in Hong Kong for the overseas module.

The objective of TLP is to strengthen and deepen the relationship among the participants from the three parties.

This was re-enforced by the Guest-of-Honour Senior Parliamentary Secretary for Manpower and Education, Mr Hawazi Daipi who emphasised the importance of sustaining efforts in safeguarding Singapore's strong foundation of tripartite partnership and industrial harmony.

STF Dialogue on 21 Apr 2014 “Transforming our Workforce and Creating Opportunities for a Better Future”

This dialogue was organised for CEOs and senior management of SNEF members and business leaders to better understand the Singapore Budget pertaining to productivity, manpower and industrial relations issues.

This dialogue provided a platform for participants to engage Mr Tan Chuan-Jin, Minister for Manpower; Mr Lim Swee Say, Secretary-General of NTUC; and Mr Stephen Lee, President of SNEF, through a panel dialogue session chaired by Ms Diana Chia, President of NTUC.

Attended by over 500 participants, some manpower issues discussed included the importance of career pathways, continuing education and training and an inclusive workforce.

21st Tripartite Golf Friendly on 27 Jul 2014

The MOM hosted the 21st Tripartite Golf Friendly on Sun, 27 Jul 2014 at Orchid Country Club (OCC). The Guest-of-Honour Emeritus Senior Minister Goh Chok Tong teed off the competition at 1.00pm.

The objective of this annual friendly game is to encourage social interaction and networking amongst the tripartite partners. Over 180 participants including several Ministers, senior Government officers, union leaders and employers participated. The Union’s team led by Mr Lim Swee Say, Secretary-General of NTUC, emerged as the champion for the friendly game.

The 21st Tripartite Golf Friendly also saw the official launch of the Tripartite Hub @ OCC by Emeritus Senior Minister Goh Chok Tong. The Hub aims to provide a platform for Tripartite Partners to interact and network to further enhance tripartite partnership.

SNEF-TP 6th Structured Human Resource Internship Programme (SHIP) from 8 Sep 2014 – 21 Nov 2014

SNEF together with Temasek Polytechnic (TP) organised the 6th SHIP for TP students majoring in Diploma in Business with an elective in Human Resource Management, from 8 Sep 2014 to 21 Nov 2014.

The programme allows students to gain a rare overview of the main organisations involved in tripartism and manpower issues in Singapore through a week-long of talks, briefings and on-site visits to SNEF, the MOM, NTUC, Industrial Arbitration Court, Workplace Safety and Health Council and TAFEP. The HR team from The Esplanade Co Ltd, a SNEF member company, took time to share with the students their HR policies and roles. After one week of induction, the students were attached to companies for 10 weeks which would enable them to gain practical HR and work experiences.

STF Tripartite Industrial Relations Seminar on Wed, 26 Nov 2014 "Future Ready Tripartism"

The STF organised the Industrial Relations Seminar on Wed, 26 Nov 2014, themed "Future Ready Tripartism".

The three priority areas identified were:

1. Provide more avenues for PMEs to seek employment assistance and workplace representation in view of the increasing number of PMEs in the workforce
2. Make productivity a tripartite effort in all sectors of the economy through sectoral tripartism

3. Be future ready with innovation, productivity and adaptability

The dialogue session was chaired by Mr Stephen Lee, Immediate Past President of SNEF, with Dr Robert Yap, President of SNEF; Mr Lim Swee Say, Secretary-General of NTUC; Dr Amy Khor, Senior Minister of State for Manpower and Health and Mr Lee Yi Shyan, Senior Minister of State for Trade and Industry and National Development, on the panel.

The seminar concluded with Tripartite Partners looking forward to continue working closely together in partnership to transform businesses and the workforce to be future ready.

SINGAPORE COMPACT FOR CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Sustainability and Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) have moved far beyond serving the purpose of reputation management. Companies from all around the world are recognising the importance of balancing a healthy triple bottom line of financial, social and environmental performance, and are increasingly managing sustainability to improve processes, pursue growth and add value to their business.

Co-founded by SNEF and NTUC, Singapore Compact, the national society that promotes sustainable development for businesses and stakeholder continues to expand its reach and programme line up. In recent years, discussions around CSR and sustainability have also been gaining considerable traction locally. In Oct 2014, the Singapore Exchange announced its plan to adopt the “comply or explain” approach for sustainability reporting for all listed companies. As Singapore responds to the challenges of an ageing population, a tighter labour market and stiffer global competition, it is high time for businesses to take sustainability seriously.

This is the reason why Singapore Compact has been strongly pushing for greater adoption of CSR and sustainability among businesses in Singapore. Since its inception in 2005, Singapore Compact has been at the forefront of growing the CSR agenda by promoting CSR thought leadership and providing avenues for companies and CSR practitioners to embark on their CSR journey and better integrate sustainability into business. We achieved this through various initiatives including training programmes, knowledge sharing and networking sessions, publications and the annual International CSR Summit which began in 2009, as well as our online platform, Enabling CSR Journeys, which was launched in 2014.

CSR and sustainability implementation requires a collaborative mindset to achieve maximum gains for the good of society. This continues to be the principle of Singapore Compact’s activities, as we seek to provide not just knowledge but also a platform where like-minded companies and practitioners can network and find viable solutions to address the needs and challenges of today’s society. We welcome this collaboration with the SBF through this sustainability directory, which we believe would give businesses looking for sustainability solutions ample opportunities to find collaborative partners.

Singapore Compact welcomes interested companies who have yet to join our network to come on board as our members to benefit from our diverse offerings. Together, we can influence the larger business community with responsible and innovative solutions for a better, more sustainable future. Our total membership as at Mar 2015 stood at 933, which includes about 483 corporate, institutional and associate members, 44 gold members and 406 members from the youth wing. Members consists of a diverse range of companies including multi-national corporations, small and medium enterprises, as well as trade unions, CSR consultants and academics.

The 2014 International Singapore Compact CSR Summit was held on 16 and 17 Oct. The Summit, a premiere CSR event in Singapore, attracted over 400 delegates and guests from the business, government, academia, public sectors and tertiary students as well as 49 high-calibre speakers from various countries including Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Hong Kong, the Netherlands, USA and the UK.

Through its capacity building and networking activities, Singapore Compact continues to be a dynamic society of like-minded companies coming together to share with and learn from one another best practices that will create a more sustainable and responsible corporate environment in Singapore.
