Note:

The present Communication on Progress to the UN Global Compact refers to all components of Total's sustainability reporting in 2015-2016:

1. Total's 2015 Registration document, which includes a chapter ("Chapter 7") on sustainable development in compliance with the French law "Grenelle II" (section 225) on mandatory sustainability reporting and verification of the information published by an external third party;
2. Total's 2016 Climate report;
3. Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper;
4. Information published on Total's corporate web site (www.total.com);
5. Since reporting cycle 2014, Total uses the G4 guidelines and reports in accordance with the G4 core level. In 2016, our GRI index table also includes references to the UN Sustainable Development Goals, adopted by the United Nations in September 2015.

CEO STATEMENT OF CONTINUED SUPPORT TO THE GLOBAL COMPACT:

1. SELF-ASSESSMENT ON THE 21 GC-ADVANCED CRITERIA

Criterion 1: The COP describes Mainstreaming into Corporate Functions and Business Units
Best practice	Reference
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Place responsibility for execution of sustainability strategy in relevant corporate functions (procurement, government affairs, human resources, legal, etc.) and ensure that no function is operating in conflict with sustainability commitments and objectives of company Align strategies, goals and incentive structures of all business units and subsidiaries with corporate sustainability strategy <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Assign responsibility for corporate sustainability implementation to an individual or group within each business unit and subsidiary <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Design corporate sustainability strategy to leverage synergies between and among issue areas and to deal adequately with trade-offs <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Ensure that different corporate functions coordinate closely to maximize performance and avoid unintended negative impacts	In every business unit, management is in charge of instilling Total's values and ensuring that our business principles are respected. All employees must understand and respect the three priority business principles contained in our Code of Conduct (see 2015 Code of Conduct, page 10). Our senior executives fully support these measures. They promote ethical business conduct, and set the example by embracing it themselves, instilling and promoting it and ensuring its correct implementation by employees. Total firmly believes that ethics and integrity are the surest path to sustainable, responsible growth (2015 Code of Conduct, page 4). Organizations involved in our ethics process: The Ethics Committee is responsible for making sure the Code of Conduct is properly applied. The Committee is a key point of contact for any employee facing an ethics-related issue. It can be consulted at any time in the strictest confidentiality. The Ethics Committee is supported by a network of about 100 Ethics Officers. The Compliance and Corporate Social Responsibility department of Legal Affairs, the Corporate Internal Audit department and the Human Resources department also play key roles in driving implementation of our ethical process, led by our senior executives and other managers, who set the example for all employees. See Total's web site: The Ethics Committee and the 2015 version Code of Conduct (pages 20-22). In order to spell out our human rights positions and initiatives, Total has created a Human Rights Coordination Committee, organized by the Ethics Committee Chairman. A discussion forum that meets quarterly, its members include representatives of the Public Affairs, Corporate Legal Affairs, Corporate Communications, Security, Sustainable Development, Human Resources Departments and Branch representatives. The meetings mainly address international initiatives, human rights tools and resources under development and the expressed expectations of civil society. See Total's web site: Ethics and Values / Human Rights. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper (page 11 on "Total's Human Rights Roadmap" and page 13 on "Dedicated Organization and Communication Channels").

Criterion 2: The COP describes value chain implementation
Best practice	Reference
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Analyze each segment of the value chain carefully, both upstream and downstream, when mapping risks, opportunities and impacts <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Communicate policies and expectations to suppliers and other business partners <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Implement monitoring and assurance mechanisms (e.g. audits/screenings) for compliance within the company's sphere of influence <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Undertake awareness-raising, training and other types of capacity building with suppliers and other business partners 	Total is committed to conveying its principles and values to its suppliers and has developed a document that must be attached or transposed in contracts with them, called "Fundamental Principles of Purchasing". Suppliers are expected to respect and make sure that their own suppliers respect these principles that are priorities for the Group: respecting Human Rights at work (Universal Declaration of Human Rights and fundamental principles of the ILO); protecting health, safety and security, preserving the environment, preventing corruption and conflict of interests, fighting corruption, respecting competition law as well as promoting economic and social development. (see Total's website: Suppliers). See Total's Human Rights Briefing Paper, July 2016 (page 15 on "Our Policies"). In 2015, Total has updated its mapping of CSR risks for purchases. The aim was to identify, for each purchasing category, the main issue in terms of CSR risks and to set up improvement plans with lead buyers and their suppliers. 3 categories of risks were analyzed: Human Rights infringement, local content mismanagement and environmental damages. The risk mapping covers the main purchasing categories, representing around 75% of the Group's spend. See Total's 2015 Registration Document, pages 152-154 (Contractors and Suppliers). We uphold the Key Conventions of the International Labour Organization (ILO) in our relations with employees wherever we operate and we expect our suppliers to adhere to principles equivalent to ours. Information sheets have been prepared and distributed worldwide to strengthen compliance across all our affiliates. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper (page 13 on "Assessment Processes" and pages 21-23, 26-30, 32-34 on "Our Due Diligence Actions"). Ethical assessments: see Total's 2015 Registration Document, pages 155-156. In March 2014, Total received the "Responsible supplier relationships" label for its Holding and Marketing & Services activities in France. This label, awarded by the French authorities, recognizes companies that maintain sustainable and balanced relationships with their suppliers. The label is awarded for three years following a CSR evaluation of purchasing practices by an independent third party (ESG rating agency Vigeo). The Total Ecosolutions program was designed to develop products and services to help our customers (both businesses and consumers) to consume less and/or reduce their environmental footprint. See Total's web site: Creating Eco-solutions. In January 2015, Total signed an agreement with international union federation IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million workers in 140 countries. This agreement includes two clauses related to contractor and supplier relations: 2.5 (promotion of human rights in the workplace) and 4.5 (health, safety in the workplace and social responsibility).

Criterion 3: The COP describes robust commitments, strategies or policies in the area of human rights

Best practice	Reference
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Commitment to comply with all applicable laws and respect internationally recognized human rights, wherever the company operates (e.g. the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Guiding Principles on Human Rights) <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Integrated or stand-alone statement of policy expressing commitment to respect and support human rights approved at the most senior level of the company <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Statement of policy stipulating human rights expectations of personnel, business partners and other parties directly linked to operations, products or services <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Statement of policy publicly available and communicated internally and externally to all personnel, business partners and other relevant parties	Our businesses lead us to set up long-term operations in many developing countries. As a major economic player, we are committed to exemplary conduct, especially in terms of respecting internationally recognized Human Rights standards within our operations. To show and explain its commitments and actions to embed respect for Human Rights in its activities, Total has released a dedicated report: Total's Human Rights Briefing Paper, in July 2016. Total respects national sovereignty and maintains a positive working relationship with government authorities. Stressing dialogue all the way up to the highest levels, we reserve the right to express to governments, when necessary, our position concerning our operations, employees and shareholders and our belief in the importance of respecting Human Rights. A new version of Total's Code of Conduct was published in February 2015, in which the respect of Human Rights has now become one of the three priority business principles of Total which are critical to our success as a responsible company (see Total's Code of Conduct: CEO message – page 4). The Code of Conduct serves as a reference and a guide for employees, both in their daily decisions and their relations with stakeholders. With its Code of Conduct, Total is committed to respect all applicable national and international laws and norms. Where there is a difference between a legal requirement and the Code of Conduct, Total seeks to apply the higher standard. The Code recognizes that Total adheres to the principles set out in): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights, • the key conventions of the International Labour Organization, • the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises • the United Nations Global Compact. • the United Nations Guiding Principles on Human Rights as endorsed by the UN Human Rights Council in 2011 • the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. (see Total's Code of Conduct, pages 8 and 9).

Criterion 4: The COP describes effective management systems to integrate the human rights principles

Best practice	Reference
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Process to ensure that internationally recognized human rights are respected <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> On-going due diligence process that includes an assessment of actual and potential human rights impacts <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Internal awareness-raising and training on human rights for management and employees <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Operational-level grievance mechanisms for those potentially impacted by the company's activities <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Allocation of responsibilities and accountability for addressing human rights impacts <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Internal decision-making, budget and oversight for effective responses to human rights impacts <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Processes to provide for or cooperate in the remediation of adverse human rights impacts that the company has caused or contributed to <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Process and programs in place to support human rights through: core business; strategic philanthropic/ social investment; public policy engagement/advocacy; partnerships and/or other forms of collective action 	The Ethics Committee's composition, scope of work and procedures are described in the Code of Conduct. The members are Total Group employees who collectively have broad experience on the Group's different businesses and have demonstrated the necessary independence and freedom of judgment. The Chairman of the Committee reports directly to the Chief Executive Officer. The Ethics Committee is responsible for establishing conditions to help employees embrace the Code of Conduct and for making sure it is properly applied. To this end, the Committee has devised a well-structured process allowing it to verify that employees are familiar with the Code of Conduct, understand its principles and apply them. It also provides individual feedback and assistance. In 2008, a Compliance and Corporate Social Responsibility Department was created within Corporate Legal Affairs Department, notably comprised of legal specialists in the area of Human Rights. Following the adoption by the Group's Executive Committee of a Group Human Rights Strategic Roadmap in May 2013, an Ethics & Human Rights Unit was created within the Compliance and Corporate Social Responsibility Department (Corporate Legal Affairs) to provide coordination and legal expertise in the areas of Ethics and Human Rights. See Total's 2015 Registration Document, pages 154-156. Human Rights are included in the guidelines for ethical evaluations that are carried out annually by GoodCorporation (6 affiliates and one major project (Moho Nord in Congo) were assessed in 2015). A Human Rights Guide was first published in 2011 and revised in 2015, in order to strengthen vigilance and raise the awareness of our employees and other stakeholders on human rights issues. Total subsidiaries adopt specific ethics guidelines and charters whenever it seems necessary to clarify priority human rights issues in a particular situation. Aligned with our Code of Conduct, these documents are designed to extend or accentuate certain principles or rights mentioned in it. They can also serve as reference documents for contracts. Total E&P Myanmar and Total Kenya are examples of subsidiaries that have adopted a specific charter or code of ethics that they publicize in their business and institutional dealings. See Total's website: Ethics and Values / Human Rights and IPIECA's website. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper: page 11 on "Total's Human Rights Roadmap", pages 13 on "Dedicated Organization and Communication Channels" and pages 20-23, 25-30, 32-34 on "How we are addressing our salient human rights issues").

Criterion 5: The COP describes effective monitoring and evaluation mechanisms of human rights integration
Best practice	Reference
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> System to monitor the effectiveness of human rights policies and implementation, including in the supply chain <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Monitoring drawn from internal and external feedback, including affected stakeholders <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Leadership review of monitoring and improvement results <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Process to deal with incidents the company has caused or contributed to for internal and external stakeholders <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Grievance mechanisms, that are legitimate, accessible, predictable, equitable, transparent, rights-compatible, a source of continuous learning and based on engagement and dialogue <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Outcomes of integration of the human rights principles 	Embedding Human Rights is an ongoing process. For several years, we have been working with three external organizations (GoodCorporation, the Danish Institute for Human Rights and CDA) to assess our practices. In 2014 , we renewed all three arrangements. See Total's web site: Ethics and Values / Human Rights. Total is also a member of GBI (Global Business Initiative on Human Rights) and Shift. We also work with International Alert in specific cases involving fragile or conflict-affected contexts. See Total's web site: Ethics and Values / Human Rights. The Group's Human Rights Coordination Committee is also monitoring, on an on-going basis, the implementation of the Group's Human Rights Roadmap. In January 2015, Total signed an agreement with the international union federation IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million workers in 140 countries. This agreement covers the promotion of Human Rights in the workplace and diversity and incorporates an annual review process(see Total's 2015 Registration document, p. 135). Regarding our grievance mechanisms, see 2015 Code of Conduct: speaking up, page 22 and Total's 2015 Registration document, p. 148. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper (pages 13 on "Dedicated Organization and Communication Channels", "Assessment Processes" and pages 21-23, 26-30, 32-34 on "Our Due Diligence Actions").

Criterion 6: The COP describes robust commitments, strategies or policies in the area of labour

Best practice	Reference
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Reference to principles of relevant international labour standards (ILO Conventions) and other normative international instruments in company policies <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Reflection on the relevance of the labour principles for the company <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Written company policy to obey national labour law, respect principles of the relevant international labour standards in company operations worldwide, and engage in dialogue with representative organization of the workers (international, sectoral, national) <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Inclusion of reference to the principles contained in the relevant international labour standards in contracts with suppliers and other relevant business partners <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Specific commitments and Human resources policies, in line with national development priorities or decent work priorities in the country of operations <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Participation and leadership in wider efforts by employer's organizations (international and national levels) to jointly address challenges related to labour standards in the countries of operation, possibly in a tripartite approach (business – trade union – government) <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Structural engagement with a global union, possibly via a Global Framework Agreement	The Code of Conduct serves as a reference and a guide for employees, both in their daily decisions and their relations with stakeholders. With its Code of Conduct, Total is committed to respect all applicable national and international laws and norms. Where there is a difference between a legal requirement and the Code of Conduct, Total seeks to apply the higher standard. The Code formally recognizes that Total adheres to the principles set out in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights, • the key conventions of the International Labour Organization, • the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises • the United Nations Global Compact. • the United Nations Guiding Principles on Human Rights as endorsed by the UN Human Rights Council in 2011 • the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights (see Total's Code of Conduct, pages 8 and 9). Total pays particular attention to employees' working conditions, especially the respect for each individual, the absence of discrimination, freedom of association and collective bargaining, as well as the protection of their health and safety. No form of harassment is tolerated (See Code of Conduct, page 11). In 2010, Total expressed its commitment for advancing equality between women and men by signing the Women's Empowerment Principles – Equality Means Business defined by the United Nations Global Compact. The Principles present seven steps that business and other sectors can take to advance and empower women. Total confirmed its support by participating in the WEP's annual events held in New York City in 2013, 2015 and 2016. In January 2015, Total signed an agreement with international union federation IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million workers in 140 countries. This agreement covers the promotion of labor rights in the workplace and the Supply Chain. Total is committed to conveying its principles and values to its suppliers and has developed a document that must be attached or transposed in contracts with them, called "Fundamental Principles of Purchasing". Suppliers are expected to respect and make sure that their own suppliers respect these principles that are priorities for the Group: respecting Human Rights at work (Universal Declaration of Human Rights and fundamental principles of the ILO); protecting health, safety and security, preserving environment, preventing corruption and conflict of interests, fighting corruption, respecting the competition law as well as promoting economic and social development. See Total's website: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Human Resources • Establishing good working conditions to protect the health and safety of everyone • Respecting Human Rights in our Sphere of Operations. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper (pages 20-23 on "Addressing Human Rights in the Workplace").

Criterion 7: The COP describes effective management systems to integrate the labour principles
Best practice	Reference
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Risk and impact assessments in the area of labour <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Dialogue mechanism with trade unions to regularly discuss and review company progress in addressing labour standards <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Allocation of responsibilities and accountability within the organisation <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Internal awareness-raising and training on the labour principles for management and employees Active engagement with suppliers to address labour-related challenges <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Grievance mechanisms, communication channels and other procedures (e.g. whistleblower mechanisms) available for workers to report concerns, make suggestions or seek advice, designed and operated in agreement with the representative organization of workers	Total's employees and their representatives have a privileged position and role among the numerous stakeholders with which the Group has and intends to develop regular dialogue. In countries where employee representation is not required by law, Total strives to set up such representation; there are therefore employee representatives in the majority of Group companies, most of whom are elected. The subjects covered by dialogue with employees vary from company to company, but there are common major themes such as work time, health and safety, compensation, training and equal opportunity. A structure for information and dialogue with European employee representatives exists in the form of the European Works Council. Its scope covers all European Union countries where the Group operates as well as Norway. Another representative body, the Group Committee, covers all Group activities in France. Measures to foster non-discrimination and diversity At Total, diversity is a decisive factor for our competitiveness, attractiveness and ability to innovate and adapt. We develop our employees' professional skills and careers without any discrimination, whether based on origin, gender, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or affiliation with a political, religious, union organization or minority group. See Total's 2015 Registration document, pages 132-137. See Total's 2016 Human Rights Briefing Paper (pages 20-23 on "Addressing Human Rights in the Workplace").

This tool is in the process of being upgraded. A new information system has been implemented in 2014 with new indicators regarding the ILO Key Conventions. Compensation All employees are paid at least the country's minimum wage and within the scope of the WHRS, more than 86% of the Group's employees were paid at a rate higher than the applicable minimum wage in 2015. Ensuring good working conditions Indicators are used to measure the main results in these areas, and monthly reporting of occupational incidents: LTIR (Lost Time Injury rate – number of lost time incidents per million hours worked) and TRIR (Total Recordable Injury rate – number of recorded incidents per million hours worked) are used to monitor performance overall and by site. The Group does not differentiate between the safety of its employees and that of external contractors. See Total's 2015 Registration document – chapter 7 p. 138-139 (“Occupational Health & Safety”). Dialogue with employees Every other year Total carries out an internal survey to gather its employees' views and expectations with regard to their work situation and perception of the company, locally and as a Group. See Total's 2015 Registration document – chapter 7 p. 135 (“Dialogue with employees”). Total is committed to conveying its principles and values to its suppliers and has developed a document that must be attached or transposed in contracts with them, called “Fundamental Principles of Purchasing”. Suppliers are expected to respect and make sure that their own suppliers respect these principles that are priorities for the Group: respecting Human Rights at work (Universal Declaration of Human Rights and fundamental principles of the ILO); protecting health, safety and security, preserving environment, preventing corruption and conflict of interests, fighting corruption, respecting the competition law as well as promoting economic and social development. In January 2015, Total signed an agreement with international union federation IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million workers in 140 countries. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Reference to relevant international conventions and other international instruments (e.g. Rio Declaration on Environment and Development) <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Reflection on the relevance of environmental stewardship for the company <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Written company policy on environmental stewardship <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Inclusion of minimum environmental standards in contracts with suppliers and other relevant business partners <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Specific commitments and goals for specified years 	Climate Change Total has been a member of the World Bank's Global Gas Flaring Reduction partnership since 2005. We achieved our objective to halve flaring at our operated sites between 2005 and 2014. New environmental objectives have been set by Total at the beginning of 2016 for a 2010-2020 period (see Total's 2015 Registration document, p. 140). In November 2014, Total decided to join the call from the United Nations Global Compact, which encourages companies to consider a CO2 price internally and publicly support the importance of such a price via regulation mechanisms suited to the local contexts. Total advocates in particular, the emergence of a balanced, progressive international agreement that encourages countries and companies to engage while preventing the distortion of competition between industries or regions in the world. In November 2014, Total also announced that it was joining the World Bank's planned Zero Routine Flaring by 2030 Initiative as well as the Climate and Clean Air Coalition, which works to more effectively measure, manage and mitigate methane emissions. In the same spirit, on June 1st, 2015, Total was one of six European Oil & Gas companies to send a joint letter to the UNFCCC's Executive Secretary and to the President of the COP21, to call for the introduction of carbon pricing systems and the creation of clear, stable and ambitious policy frameworks that eventually could connect national systems. Environment Total's environment policy is based on the Group's Safety, Health, Environment and Quality charter. See Total's 2015 Registration document (chapter 7.2.3 p. 144-146). Integrating climate issues into our strategy goes beyond reducing emissions at our facilities. It also involves gradually decreasing the carbon intensity of our production mix. We take the 2°C scenario into account in our strategy. To do this, we compare the change in the carbon intensity of our projected growth profile for primary energy production to the change in carbon intensity under the 2°C scenario, on a like-for-like energy basis (coal, oil, gas, solar, wind power and biofuels). See Total's 2016 Climate report (page 22). Total is committed to conveying its principles and values to its suppliers and has developed a document that must be attached or transposed in contracts with them, called "Fundamental Principles of Purchasing". Suppliers are expected to respect and make sure that their own suppliers respect these principles that are priorities for the Group: respecting Human Rights at work (Universal Declaration of Human Rights and fundamental principles of the ILO); protecting health, safety and security, preserving environment, preventing corruption and conflict of interests, fighting corruption, respecting the competition law as well as promoting economic and social development. Environmental objectives and goals: see Total's website – Sustainable Performance / Environmental targets.

This committee meets twice a month in order to review new projects before approval by the Group's Executive Committee and to make sure that all risks have been properly assessed based on the "Corisk" checklist. Whether the expenditure involves a new project or a proposal to expand, acquire, divest or wind up an operation, the checklist is designed to verify compliance with Total's standards, in particular in the areas of environment, community development, social responsibility, health and hygiene, industrial safety, security and Human Rights. The checklist takes into account the construction, operating and revamping phases. See Total's 2015 Registration document – chapter 4 p. 61-62 – "Industrial and environmental risks and risks related to climate issues", p. 138-146 ("Safety, health and environment information") and p. 147-149 ("Dialogue and involvement with stakeholders"). Regarding our grievance mechanisms, see Total's Code of Conduct: Speaking up (page 22).

About 25% of Total's employees work in high-risk countries with scores of less than fifty on the Transparency International Corruption Perceptions Index. Therefore, reinforcing integrity and preventing corruption are major objectives for the Group and all employees. The Group's Code of Conduct (page 9) states that "Total has a rigorous Compliance Program based on a "zero tolerance" principle designed to prevent and detect violations of applicable anti-trust, anti-fraud, anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws worldwide.". This Code of Conduct is a reference document. ○ Since 2001, the Ethics Committee offers assistance and receptiveness allowing each individual to ask questions about compliance with the Code of Conduct. • Objective 3: Ensure the health, safety and well-being of all women and men workers. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Every year, improvements are sought for the existing pension and social protection arrangements within the Group's subsidiaries (health insurance, pensions, etc.). Some noteworthy examples since 2011: the gradual introduction of a supplementary pension in certain subsidiaries in the Refining & Chemicals and Marketing & Services sectors; benchmarking and development of complementary health and welfare services in eight Asian countries and for all employees of subsidiaries in Mexico (2013). Additional advances were achieved in other countries in 2013 concerning compensation in case of death: most Group companies (86%) now have an insurance plan providing for the payment of an allowance of two years of minimum wage in case of death, whatever the cause. ○ In January 2015, Total signed an agreement with international union federation IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million workers in 140 countries. To give an example related to women in this agreement: maternity leave will not have a negative impact on an employee's compensation or future career path.

	Since 2001, sustained measures have been taken to increase the number of women in all of Total's businesses and at all levels of the Group. In 2011, senior management made a commitment to promote diversity all the way up to the executive suite, with the objective of increasing the percentage of women in the leadership team to 25% by 2020 (versus 14% in 2010). In addition, since May 24, 2016, Total has 6 women on its Board of Directors (representing 54.5%). The main obstacle to gender parity in hiring is the relatively small percentage of women enrolled in the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Management) technical programs or universities. Consequently, our efforts to increase the proportion of female hires must focus on targeting girls and young women, to introduce them to the wealth and diversity of professional fields and careers in the oil industry. In this regard, since 2011, Total has signed in France a partnership agreement with the organization "Elles bougent" and in 2015, Total has the presidency of the organization. The number of female employees (engineers or technicians) committed in this non-profit organization has more than doubled: from 60 to 130. An internal initiative called "She is an engineer" was also launched in our affiliates. Recruitment is a key driver of this policy and we have set a goal of aligning the percentage of women recruits with the percentage of women graduates from our target schools and universities, for a total of 20% in technical disciplines and 50% in business and support disciplines. In 2015, at Total, women account for 31% of the recruitment (open-ended contracts) and 33% of the workforce, 25% of managers and 34% of managers under the age of 30, reflecting the impacts of measures taken by the Group over the last years. Total is committed to the professional advancement of women: over 60 women are invited to participate in empowerment training each year on the theme of "managing your career as a woman". Creation of the "Twice" Network in 2006, a network of women working at Total, now represented in more than 19 countries such as France, Angola, Belgium, Cameroon, Canada, USA, China, Congo, Germany, the United Arab Emirates, Gabon, Indonesia, Italy, Nigeria, Singapore and the Asia Pacific (3,200 women members). The Twice Network's objectives are to: facilitate the development of women's careers by realising their potential within the Group, via "networking", the organization of events, the "mentoring" program...: Since 2010, more than 500 women have benefited from Twice's mentoring programs. Another goal is to make women's voices heard on Total's business issues (establishment of working groups on sensitive issues); and raise awareness and provide gender equality education for men and women (dedicated training / workshops). Twice plays the role of a think tank for the development of innovative practices. Commitments are made to promote the same percentage of women and men with equivalent qualifications and experience, from the overall group of women and men eligible for the promotion in question (replacement plans, removal of age limit for high potential applicants). In March 2014, Total's Diversity Council celebrated its 10th anniversary. This event (that took place in Singapore) was an opportunity to familiarize participants with the work of the Council, a think tank whose primary mission is to be an ambassador for the diversity policy, in conjunction with the Executive Committee and branches. The composition of the Council, which meets twice per year, mirrors the diversity of the Group (branch, geographical area, nationality, gender balance). The Council helps senior management to achieve their diversity goals and initiates various actions to promote diversity. It also reports annually on key indicators and the initiatives conducted in the branches. The Council is supported in its work by the Diversity department, which coordinates policy implementation and the network of diversity correspondents. Every year, the Diversity Council holds a meeting abroad to raise awareness among managers. In 2016, the meeting held in Johannesburg gathered 51 persons from African affiliates.
