ABOUT US

The history of Caucasus University began in 1998 when Caucasus School of Business was established. Its motto is "Studium Pretium Libertatis".

Caucasus University is an accredited higher education institution for students seeking a superior education. Its curriculum is supported by participation in international programmes and by visiting professors. Engaging teaching methods are used, and these are buttressed with professional experience programs and exchange programmes for both students and scholars. Courses are delivered by internationally qualified lecturers which ensures the preparation of highly-qualified specialists in various spheres.

CU consists of various schools: Business, Law, Media, Technology, Humanities and Social Sciences, Governance, Tourism, Economics and HealthCare School and School of New Cinema. The university has the legal right to award standard and diplomacy specialist qualifications based on Georgian legislation: bachelors, masters and PhD degrees. There are also various certificate programs available at CU, including short study courses.

Caucasus University has well-established relations with many of the top European, American and Asian universities. Students are thus afforded the opportunity to participate in two way exchange programs. Students from other countries also learn with CU as regular and exchange students.

Projects

Ongoing Projects

- „Catalogue of Georgian Monuments of Material Culture of Georgian Regions of Tao-Klarjeti currently located in Turkey”.

The project is carried out by the Caucasus University and the Center for Cultural and Tourism Resources of Georgia, with financial support of Shota Rustaveli National Science Foundation.

The project started in 2013; it ends in 2016. It is designed to explore and study more than 1,000 historical Georgian villages and adjoining territories in Tao-Klarjeti region. The project envisages exploring cultural monuments located in the region, determining their current state, processing historical resources, ascertaining historical toponyms, taking GPS coordinates and photos.

Within the framework of the project nine expeditions were carried out in 2014 (56 days) in historical Artalani, Kola, Palakacio, Poso, Erusheti, Javakheti and a part of Samtskhe. 314 villages, village ruins and adjoining territories located in the region were explored. In addition, 143 little-known historical monuments not mentioned in the written sources were discovered (Khutsishvili et al., 2015).

In 2015, five expeditions were carried out (56 days) on the historical territory of Shavsheti and Klarjeti.

283 villages, village ruins and adjoining territories located in the region were explored.

In 2016, 150 cultural monuments were explored.

Current state of 116 cultural monuments known from written sources was determined. In addition, 108 historical monuments not mentioned in the written sources known to us were discovered, including 48 churches (12 unknown), 47 church ruins (33 unknown), 66 castles and towers (31 unknown), 24 stone arch bridges (1 unknown), 32 constructions of various applications (underground, cave, living and others; of which 24 were unknown), unknown inscriptions – one Georgian (Asomtavruli), one Armenian and five newly-discovered stones with ornaments. Furthermore, current state of Armenian, Greek, Russian and Turkish cultural monuments (constructions, inscriptions, stone ornaments etc.) was determined.

The project began in 2013 and will end in 2016.

GEM

– „Global Entrepreneurship Monitor – Georgia”.

In 2014, the Caucasus School of Business with support of the GIZ Private Sector Development Programme South Caucasus became the Georgian National Team in the Global Entrepreneurship Monitor (GEM) consortium.

The Global Entrepreneurship Monitor is the world's largest study of entrepreneurship. Since 1999, GEM has been collecting, analyzing and interpreting data on entrepreneurial activity, aspirations and attitudes of individuals in more than 100 countries across the world.

Through a vast, centrally coordinated, internationally executed data collection effort, GEM is able to provide high quality information, comprehensive reports and interesting stories, which greatly enhance the understanding of the entrepreneurial phenomenon - but it is more than that. It is also an ever-growing community of believers in the transformative benefits of entrepreneurship.

In each economy, GEM looks at two elements

- The entrepreneurial behaviour and attitudes of individuals
- The national context and how that impacts entrepreneurship

The information gained, carefully analysed by local GEM researchers, allows a deep understanding of the environment for entrepreneurship and provides valuable insights.

In 2014 Caucasus University has developed the first Global Entrepreneurship Monitor Report for Georgia. The document provides unique information and data that policy-makers and other decision-makers will not find elsewhere. The document at hand is the first GEM report that looks at Georgia specifically in large detail and explores the role of entrepreneurship in national economic growth, unveiling detailed national features and characteristics associated with entrepreneurial activity, hence providing unique insights into the economies worldwide.

Continuous participation of Georgia in GEM activities will allow the country to identify changes in entrepreneurial behaviour and adjust policy formulation to the needs and trends of domestic entrepreneurial developments. Public discussions on those policies will increase awareness of entrepreneurship as one of the main grounds for sustainable economic development and growth in Georgia.
