Carrying on Our Founder's Credo and Contributing to the Sustainable Development of Society

Our founder's credo (“Shi Kou Ten Kai*”) is the starting point for the SCREEN Group's CSR initiatives.

The SCREEN Group has its roots in “Ishida Kyokuzan Printing Works”, which was founded in Kyoto in 1868 by a copperplate engraving artist named Saijiro Ishida. His desire to promote the history and tradition of Kyoto all over the world was reflected in his printing of temples, shrines and other places of natural beauty using copperplate; moreover, his contribution to the development of culture is equivalent to the “Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)” of today. Our founder's credo has been carried on to successive generations, based upon technological innovation from copperplate printing to lithographic printing, and then to the creation of Japan's first “glass screen for photographic reproduction”, which enabled photographic printing.

Thereafter, the glass screen research division of “Ishida Kyokuzan Printing Works” became independent and “Dainippon Screen MFG. Co., Ltd.” was born, in which the spirit of “Shi Kou Ten Kai (思考展開)” has been imbued since its founding. The company has further refined its unique image-forming technology, and we have continued to proactively promote the application of our technologies in different fields. Accordingly, we have expanded our business into printing-related equipment, and then into the electronics industry including semiconductors and liquid crystal, and other fields, and Screen has become a global company which contributes to the electronic advancement and sophistication of society.

In addition to “Shi Kou Ten Kai (思考展開)”, there is another facet of the spirit of “Shi Kou Ten Kai (志高転改)” which strives for innovation and improvement with constant high aspirations, and we have engaged in continued corporate reform in order to allow our company to evolve from the inside, including our internal organization and systems.

We, the employees of the SCREEN Group of today and the future, will continuously contribute to the sustainable development of society by carrying on both facets of our founder's credo to future generations, by engaging with ardor in expanding into new business fields through the active utilization of open innovation and seeking constant corporate reform, and by aiming for the continuous evolution and development of the Group.

* “Shi Kou Ten Kai (思考展開)” means the pursuit of new ideas and development and opening of new businesses, products and markets. “Shi Kou Ten Kai (志高転改)” means the implementation of reform with a strong will.

We will continue striving to be the “SCREEN of world-class technology” on the basis of the SCREEN Group’s corporate philosophy.

In October 2014, amid the ongoing significant changes in the business environment, the SCREEN Group separated its businesses and management departments with the aim of further improving our corporate value, and converted to the “holding company system” based upon group companies located in Japan and abroad.

On the basis of the “Corporate Philosophy” established as a technology development company, which consists of “Sharing the Future”, “Human Resource Development”, and “The Pursuit of Technology”, the SCREEN Group has just started to mark a new chapter in its history toward the realization of our “Management Grand Design” which describes its growth and vision. We, developing businesses on a global basis as a global company, must take action with higher aspirations, passion, and pride as the employees of the SCREEN Group as well as comply with all applicable laws and regulations. We would like all officers and employees of the SCREEN Group to comply with the “CSR Charter” at all times and adhere to the “Code of Conduct”.

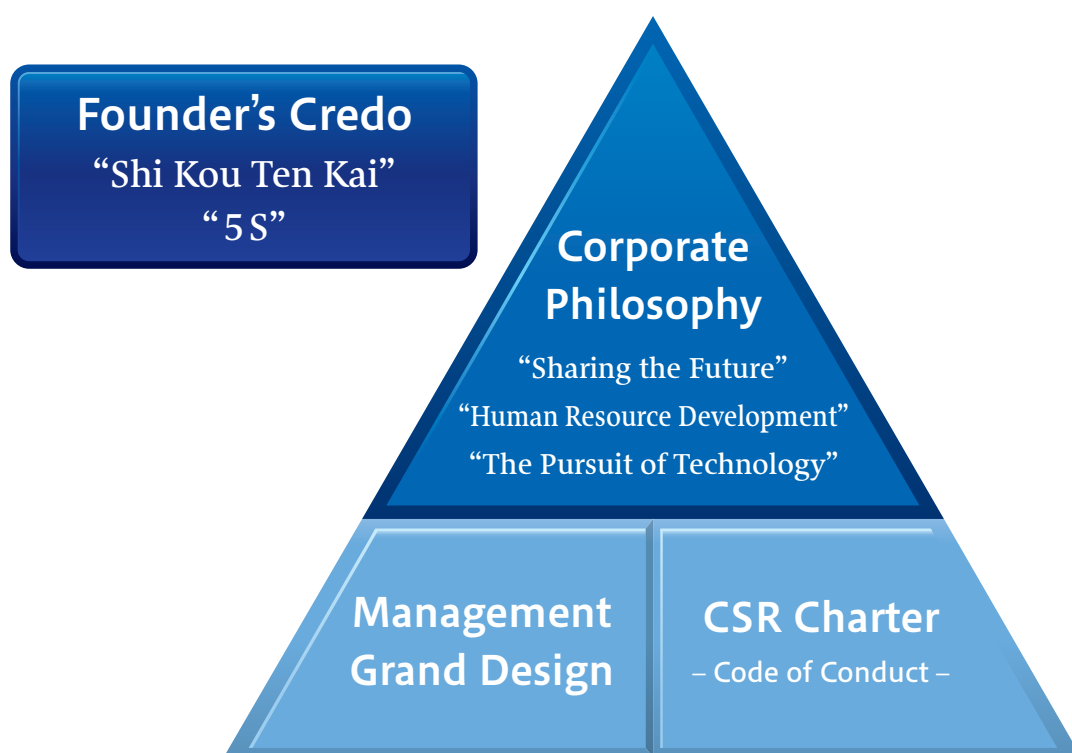

Every SCREEN Group employee will pursue superior technology and foster deeper humanity on the basis of our “Founder’s Credo” and the “Corporate Philosophy”, and develop a harmonious coexistence with society with the aim of the company exerting its presence in new businesses while maintaining a competitive advantage in existing businesses.

Let us all conduct our Corporate Social Responsibility activities adhering to the “CSR Charter” and contribute to the development and sustainability of society.
