Part II. Description of Action

In the pursuit of our objectives to promote the social dialogue and the integration of the most impoverished communities in the Congo to help them to become self-sufficient, to strengthen the means of raising awareness of access to education and to inform on the importance of peace and to live together in a post-conflict country. We also multiplied entrepreneurship training for economic management of target populations. We pursue our mission in liaison with grassroots community cells, coordinates planning efforts to eradicate extreme poverty and hunger, providing technical expertise, and facilitating the development of community social work.

Most of our activities happen in the field. Achieving our goals, we have worked with communities, faith-based and civic organizations, government officials and private entities, and has worked to ensure that Supported people, regardless of their ethnicity, political and religious, or gender, can achieve self-sufficiency and success in the economic life of Congolese society. Our principal method was to promote access to training and education everywhere and for all.
