Dear Mr. Secretary-General,

Bank of America has a clear purpose to help make financial lives better for those we serve through the power of every connection we can make for them. We deliver on that purpose by driving responsible growth and living our company's values. By doing so, we are helping the economy grow in the communities where we serve customers and clients.

Bank of America supports the ten principles of the Global Compact on human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption. By delivering on our purpose, we will advance these principles through the way we run our company.

We will make our stakeholders aware of our commitment and keep them informed of our progress through our annual ESG Report.

Sincerely yours,
