MISSION

The Ukrainian Catholic University is an open academic community living the Eastern Christian tradition and forming leaders to serve with professional excellence in Ukraine and internationally – for the glory of God, the common good, and the dignity of the human person.

A MATTER BIGGER THAN LIFE

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS IN CHRIST:

Every year, my experiences as rector of UCU are opportunities for gratitude, joy, and enthusiasm. There are more and more victories and fewer defeats.

All the achievements that have allowed us to continue to build world-class Ukrainian education and to form a new generation of leaders for the country have been possible thanks to the sacrifices of our benefactors and the combined work of committees and a wide circle of friends of UCU, entrepreneurs, artists, and the teachers and staff of UCU. Since the years of its founding, UCU has interested in its development more than 20 thousand benefactors from the whole world, including a number from Ukraine.

We are proud to have the best entering students in the country – 48 % of the 350 first-year bachelor's degree students are in the top 5% of high school graduates in Ukraine according to External Independent Testing. The academic successes and social activism of our students inspire us. A team of students from the Master's Program in Data Science won the 2017 Queen's International Innovation Challenge in Toronto, among 111 teams from the whole world. More than 15% of students take advantage of opportunities for international academic mobility and have acquired the important experience of study abroad. They were able to study at 11 universities in Europe and North America. 186 students took part in summer schools/internships, 32 in a semester of study abroad. The majority of students actively participate in the university's life, getting involved in the activities of student government and nearly 20 student organizations. We rejoice in our graduates: last year there were 303 in 20 educational programs.

We take pride in our teachers' achievements. Outstanding examples of their dedicated work are the award received by Dr. Oleh Turiy, Director of the Institute of Church History, the cross "For Church and Pope," presented by the Vatican State, the highest honor for a layperson in the Catholic Church, and the International Ivan Franko Award in the category "For Significant Achievements in the Area of Ukrainian Studies" presented to Prof. Yaroslava Melnyk, head of the Philology Department of UCU's Humanities Faculty. The university is also an academic forum for the meeting of people from various spheres and environments. An excellent proof of this is the large-scale International Association for the Humanities Convention, MAG 2018, held at UCU this year. It gathered 390 scholars from 30 countries. Over three days, there were 120 panel discussions and 350 presentations, and our students had an unprecedented opportunity to interact with representatives of the international academic world.

In September 2017, the Metropolitan Andrey Sheptytsky Center graciously opened its doors. The construction and activities of the center embody the university community's openness and service to the wider public. The Sheptytsky Center has become the home for the organization of the annual UCU Days in Lviv – a program of open events at the start of the new academic year, thanks to which friends, partners, and benefactors of the university have the opportunity to join in festive ceremonies and, for a few days, to feel like an UCU student.

The university has begun planning work on a new Collegium, where more than 300 students will reside. This should become one of the informal centers of student life – a wonderful location for leisure and interaction, the discussion of ideas and presentations, a welcoming home for student clubs and events. Students will be able to move into the new Collegium in September 2020.

This academic year will be important for determining the future trajectory of our university. The process of strategic planning and discussion of UCU's strategic goals on the road to 2025 has been dedicated to this purpose. We invite our academic community and all our friends to give this some thought, so that prayerfully and with faith in God we can set forth in search of new meanings and ideas in response to the difficult questions that life poses to our university.

YOURS IN CHRIST,
REV. BOHDAN PRACH, PHD, UCU RECTOR

WE ACCEPT CHALLENGES AND LOOK FOR NEW POSSIBILITIES:

UCU COMMUNITY CREATES STRATEGY 2025

14 September, the first day of the new academic year, UCU held an open session, "UCU Strategy-2025: Let's start creating together!" The event had more than 140 participants: students, teachers, administrators, senators, donors, and friends of UCU. Together they discussed possible directions of the university's development to 2025.

For UCU, it was very important that everyone who wanted could participate in this group strategizing. So the organizers needed to make sure to provide comfortable conditions for group work for such a large number of people.

” We thought for a long time about how to do this. And, finally, we understood that we couldn't do it without the help of technology. We decided to put half of the people in the hall of the Sheptytsky Center and the other half in the conference hall on the lower floor. We had an online connection between the groups, with broadcasting screens. This turned out to be the optimal decision and there was constant contact between groups and speakers.

UCU Senior Vice-Rector Taras Dobko

Those present were divided into 20 groups. Each group had students, teachers, senators, donors... That is, people of various ages, professions, and social status met in a single circle, but all, in one way or another, were involved with the UCU community. This created a unique opportunity for generating ideas.

” For me as a student, the most valuable thing was that I was able to see UCU through the eyes of a teacher, a senator, a donor. And among students, we are still discussing how we see UCU's future. The main thing is that the discussions during the strategic session inspired further thoughts.

*Participant in the strategic session

Halyna Didula*

For a few intensive hours, the participants interacted, shared ideas about priorities for the university's development, and formulated propositions for new strategic goals. After each block, the group moderators entered the proposals on a special Google form, and the organizers immediately put the results on the screen. At the conclusion, each of the groups presented one strategic idea to all the participants.

At the conclusion of the strategic planning, UCU President Bishop Borys Gudziak, who had been working the whole time in one of the groups, addressed the participants.

This event was only one of many steps on the way to creating Strategy-2025. Strategic planning activities will continue at various levels to spring 2019.

EXPANDING SPACE FOR COMMUNICATION

COLLEGIUM II – A CENTER OF INFORMAL STUDENT LIFE

The university team has begun planning work on the new Collegium, in which more than 300 students will reside. This construction will complete the formation of the residential space of the campus.

” We had no doubts why we needed to build this Collegium – the university has grown, the number of students has increased, and we needed to begin a 1-year formation program. If the first collegium has a classical division into one kind of room, then the second will have rooms of various sizes, allowing students to join in associations based on common interests. In addition to the classical two-person rooms, we added studio-blocs for a larger number of students, which will have their own separate living room.

UCU Senior Vice-Rector Taras Dobko

The Collegium Project will be developed and executed by the Ukrainian architectural firm AVR Development. Construction will last two years.

A 'GREEN LIGHT' FOR ARGUMENTS, BUT NOT HOSTILITY

MAG CONVENTION 2018

MAG 2018, a large international convention for the humanities, held at UCU for three days, from 27 to 29 June 2018, gathered 390 scholars from 30 countries. The lion's share of participants came from various parts of Ukraine, Russia, and Belarus, and so the majority of themes discussed involved the area of Eastern Europe.

“ A year ago, after a discussion with the head of ASEEEES, the question arose of where to conduct the next convention. Finally, we decided that there's only one place where we can optimally realize this project, and that's UCU, in the city of Lviv. There's a great base here for the high-quality organization of such events, and there are responsible people. The fact that MAG is here is also a definite gesture of solidarity with Ukraine, a country in which a war is going on and which is combatting social and economic problems. It's very important that there are Russian colleagues at the congress, who travel here as friends, as professional researchers, and this is a kind of model for how social discussions should happen.

IMAGE OF THE SELF

“ The first time I visited Lviv, it seemed to me to be an environment of instability and crisis. But now I notice that Lviv is gradually becoming a place of optimism and growth, especially UCU. I have been at this university more than once, and I am simply impressed by the progress that's happened in recent years. I've also spoken with many participants, and I am exceptionally pleased with this atmosphere of lively discussion and cooperation, as we all need a model of communication like this, and so conferences like this will be very necessary in the future.

Over the three days of the convention, numerous panel discussions and informal discussions about history, culture, and sociology happened.

HOW FOREIGNERS FROM THE WHOLE WORLD COME TO UCU TO STUDY UKRAINIAN

People of various ages and professions from various corners of the world have for 16 years now been coming to the UCU School of Ukrainian Language and Culture. Among them are political scientists, diplomats, historians, students, and even schoolchildren. In the whole time of the school's existence, the oldest participant was 82 years old.

A UNIVERSITY WHICH GROWS IN RESPONSE TO SOCIETY'S NEEDS

A SUMMARY OF UCU'S SEVEN-YEAR DEVELOPMENT CAMPAIGN

New faculties, bachelor's and master's programs, institutes and centers, and also a more than two-fold increase in the number of students – all this happened during UCU's seven-year development campaign.

In 2010, UCU had 2 faculties (Humanities and Theology-Philosophy), 3 bachelor's (Theology, History, Social Pedagogy) and 3 master's programs (Theology, History, Key Executive MBA). At the start of 2017, after seven exceptionally intense and productive years, the university has significantly expanded. UCU now has 4 new faculties (Social Sciences, Applied Sciences, Health Sciences, and the Lviv Business School), 14 master's and 7 bachelor's programs, and 13 new institutes and centers.

The new programs have been created in response to needs which existed in society. The experience of the Revolution of Dignity and needs which arose on the Maidan motivated the opening of a number of them. Thus arose such new, important offerings at UCU: the Master's Program in Human Rights, in response to violations in the legal area in Ukraine; the School of Management, which is already preparing progressive specialists in the area of public administration; and also the Institute of Mental Health and the School of Rehabilitation Medicine, which, among other things, help rehabilitate ATO participants.

In general, in these years the number of students grew more than twofold (from 800 to 1 800), 59% women and 41% men. Every year more than 500 people study in various short-term UCU programs, in Theology, Psychology, Bioethics, Data Science, and Ukrainian Language and Culture. And, even though the majority of the university's students are from the Lviv and Kyiv regions, UCU now has students from all the regions of Ukraine.

2017	6 faculties	10 bachelor's programs	17 master's programs	22 institutes and centers
2010	2	3	3	9

Changes in people's consciousness don't happen overnight. And so I think that projects like UCU have the strength to gradually break down the old Soviet structures and, on top of this debris, to strive to develop an entirely new type of relations.

MORE THAN 20 THOUSAND BENEFACTORS FROM THE WHOLE WORLD SUPPORT UCU

HOW THE UNIVERSITY'S CIRCLE OF FRIENDS GREW

Since the years of UCU's founding, more than 20 thousand benefactors from the whole world have become involved in its development. For the first 15 years of its activities, the majority of the university's benefactors were in Canada and the USA, the majority of whom were not of Ukrainian descent. Eventually, this example of support and sacrifice was emulated in Ukraine – over the last 10 years the portion of income from UCU's benefactors in Ukraine has quadrupled.

Since UCU's founding in the mid 1990s, the university has developed mainly thanks to the generous support of benefactors in the USA and Canada: 40% of Ukrainian descent, 60% from other ethnic backgrounds. Of course, support for UCU came not only from the American continent but also from Europe and Australia.

In Ukraine at that time, a culture of philanthropy for the development of education did not exist. Gradual changes in the culture of philanthropy started in the mid 2000s. In 2007, UCU organized its first charity evening in Ukraine. Despite difficulties, the number of benefactors in Ukraine slowly began to grow, and over the last 10 years, the portion of income from benefactors in Ukraine quadrupled. In 2017, this amount was 14 ½ million hryvnias.

An awareness in Ukrainian society of personal responsibility for quality education is very important for the UCU community, for the university for now receives no support from the government: 75% of budget costs come from fundraising campaigns, 25% from educational programs and services.

” UCU is a university of relations, and we hope that benefactors feel that they're part of our family. Unfortunately, not all can travel to UCU to see the fruits of their sacrifices. Nevertheless, I always encourage all not to deny themselves the satisfaction.

A FORMAT THAT REFLECTS AN IDEA

HOW UCU CELEBRATED GRADUATION

This year UCU conducted graduation in a new format. We invite you to return to 30 June 2018 to remember or, for some, to feel for the first time, the warm atmosphere of this day.

” The atmosphere at UCU is very different from that at other universities in Ukraine: dedicated teachers, unique students, a professional program, and, most importantly, interaction...

Former ATO participant, UCU graduate Hryhorii Trotskyi

” UCU has its own environment, teachers and students who are very serious about life. I had very great trust in the university and was convinced that here my daughter would receive a foundation of knowledge that is truly useful and necessary in life. A university cannot give all knowledge, and that is not its task, but the foundation is a must.

*The father of graduate Ksenia
Bohdan Troyanovskyi*

“ Dear Graduates: Your teachers and parents or guardians throughout the years were, like these candles, on fire for your sake, giving all their love. So I call you to pass on all the knowledge, humaneness, and love that you have received. And this also means: do not be afraid to go forward, to fight for truth, for Ukraine, for values, to serve our nation. You have studied for this purpose.

*Rev. Bohdan Prach, PhD
UCU Rector*

“ The last time I was in Lviv was 25 years ago. UCU has really grown in that time, and truly this university is the hope of us – Ukrainians, a chance to change Ukraine. So I truly hope that today these graduates have found their way and are on the right path – service to others.

Boris Lushniak is an American of Ukrainian descent who was acting Surgeon General under President Barack Obama, Rear Admiral Retired U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps. Dr. Lushniak was an honored guest at UCU’s commencement exercises. During his speech, he offered five lessons for the graduates.

- 1 You never know where you will meet your best friend, so always foster friendship
- 2 Always remember your roots and maintain contacts with your predecessors
- 3 Make healthy choices
- 4 Be ready to wear various hats
- 5 Look to the horizon and start serving others

SMART HELMET FROM UCU STUDENT

Markian Zubrytskyi, a third-year student in the Bachelor's Program in Computer Science of UCU's Faculty of Applied Sciences, developed an innovative device, an accessory for bicycle helmets that makes riding safer. The device synchronizes with a smartphone, determines the temperature, speed of movement, and, with the help of tilting one's head, shows turns and stops.

” I wanted to develop an accessory that would be useful for various people: from those who buy a bicycle for a few hundred hryvnias and ride it once a month to professional athletes for whom the helmet is one of the most important things

Markian Zubrytskyi.

ECOLOGICAL CONCERN IN ACTION

Illia Petryk, a second-year student of UCU's EPE program, is developing an interest that started in school, the proper sorting of waste. Together with the Green Box initiative, he is encouraging a culture of sorting among businesses, social institutions, schools, universities...

” I'm glad that this is working well at UCU. Here there are a big concentration of various organizations, people on various levels, students involved in social and civic initiatives, and for them sorting is natural Illia Petryk.

VOLUNTEERING AT THE DAVOS FORUM

Every year at the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland, leaders of leading international companies get acquainted, talk, and sign multimillion contracts. This year, two UCU students were able to see all this: Pavlo Bryliak, a second-year student in the Bachelor's Program in IT and Business Analytics of UCU's Faculty of Applied Sciences, and Anastasia Blazhko, a student of the bachelor's program Ethics-Politics-Economics.

” Visiting the forum, I understood that famous people, who have earned millions of dollars, are not isolated and unapproachable, as many think, but very simple and open. When you see that every other person walking near you is the CEO of a leading world company, you understand that you also can achieve such success with the necessary motivation
