AGROAMERICA ANNUAL COMMUNICATION ON PROGRESS

We present below the Annual Communication on Progress as a brief supplement to our AgroAmerica Sustainability Reports 2020. The purpose of this report is to further discuss our daily and long-term commitments toward sustainable food and ingredient production; our contributions towards an internal process of continuous improvement and an external effort of communications and alignment with the expectations about the business for our different stakeholders.

AgroAmerica is a family-owned corporation, headed by the second generation of leaders in the business. It is a diversified and vertically-integrated company with a competitive positioning in agricultural production, agro-industrial processing, commercialization, and distribution of sustainable food and ingredients of the highest quality.

Our primary business areas are the production, transportation, and distribution of tropical fruits, especially bananas (conventional and organic); the production and processing of natural ingredients, tropical oils; and a portfolio of investments in high-technology companies supporting agriculture, renewable energy, food plants, and plant-based ingredients, restaurants, and entertainment.

With our first Communication on Progress (CoP), we present One Banana and One Banana Ingredients Sustainability Reports, the companies and commercial brands under which AgroAmerica markets bananas and natural ingredients, as well as our Tropical Oil Sustainability Report. Our Sustainability Reports adhere to the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) Standards and comply with the goals of Communication on Progress (CoP) before the United Nations Global Compact, an entity of which we have been signatories since 2020. They reflect our commitment to do responsible business and align our business management with the Sustainable Development Goals.
