JCI History

Young Leaders and Entrepreneurs (JCI) Association; In 1915 to achieve the vision of "Being the leading global network for active citizens" and to realize the mission of "Contributing to the positive development of society by providing opportunities for the growth of young people", St. It is the Turkish organization of the Junior Chamber International (JCI) organization established in St. Louis.

This non-profit international non-governmental organization, formed by young active citizens between the ages of 18-40, has a long history of more than 105 years in the world and over 30 years in Turkey.

Junior Chamber International (JCI) organization is one of the largest non-governmental organizations in the world with more than 5,000 branches and 160,000 members in 105 countries of the world as of 2017.

The Young Leaders and Entrepreneurs (JCI) Association, on the other hand, continues its efforts to contribute to the positive development of the society with its 25 different branches and nearly 700 members in 14 different provinces of Turkey and the TRNC as of 2017.

Establishment and Development

The beginning of JCI dates back to the 1910s in St. Louis to the city. A young man named Henry Giessenbier, together with his friends, founded the Herculaneum Dance Club, which aimed to preserve dance figures and styles. Five years later, in 1915, members of this dance club, Giessenbier and 32 of his friends, believing that they should be more concerned with urban and social issues, founded the Young Men's Progressive Civic Association (YMPCA).

This organization transformed into an association with 750 members in less than five months, became an active civil society initiative, and in later years started to operate under the name of Junior Chamber of Commerce. Its international spread also took place in many countries under this roof.

JCI provides service in 4 main regions all over the world, namely Asia, Africa, America and Europe. Turkey is located within the European region. National country organizations are directly affiliated with JCI.

*Local branch organizations are established in cities and continue to work under national organizations.

JCI, which has an international federation structure, does not have a nationality. Although its headquarters is located in St. Louis, USA, local branch management (LOM) is essential in our association rather than central direction. Each branch has initiative in its activities in line with the general mission and vision. The National Organization Management (NOM) operates to ensure national coordination and increase communication. JCI Headquarters (Headquarters – HQ) coordinates international activities.

In Turkey, it has a charter prepared in accordance with the Law on Associations of the Republic of Turkey and carries out its activities under the name of Young Leaders and Entrepreneurs (JCI) Association in accordance with this charter.

World View

JCI supports all kinds of activities that will positively affect the society, contributing to the universal view and world peace. One of the core principles of JCI is that all people are equal and open to development. Our world does not belong to man, but people belong to the world, and every human being is a citizen of the world.

We believe that friendships built on these common beliefs and principles in international activities, where thousands of young people from all over the world who believe in the same principles come together, can bring along important factors that will make our members happier and more successful.

LiderSen 2/2

- Overview: The education system in Turkey has many problems. Especially in recent years, university students do not have enough information about business life, leadership and personal development. We also wanted to raise awareness about leadership and job opportunities. In LiderSen project, we established a partnership with Marmara University, the most powerful and well-known in the Kadıköy region. The students of Marmara University, which is a state-affiliated institution, do not have enough opportunities. From this point of view, we started our project and aimed to provide leadership training to many students. In the project, which is taught as a course in the curriculum, JCI Kadıköy term board and directors bring together leaders from the business world or JCI world with students. At the same time, due to the nature of a course in the curriculum, it conducts assessment (written exams and workshops). JCI Kadıköy intervened in a university's curriculum, added a credit 'Leadership Course' with midterm and final exams to the program, and shaped the curriculum by organizing successful leaders in business life who would come to the class every week as the instructor of the course.
- Results: Our project is a long-term training program. This year, 130 Engineering Faculty students graduated from the Leadership course in the spring semester. Our course, which has been moved to the online education platform due to the pandemic, continues the education process by being redesigned with our structure that always gives importance to education and our members and volunteers who take action quickly in the face of events. 140 Engineering Faculty students continue their education in our fall semester course. Our project has been continuing since 2014. Many students are supported each year. Its effects are growing every year. As a long-term effect, we also contribute to the individual development and leadership skills of university students, increase their level of forward-looking awareness and create a trained manpower for the business world. With the LiderSen project within the framework of "Qualified Education", one of the UN development goals, we are trying to ensure that university students have access to quality higher education on equal terms. We contribute to the goal of quality education with the trainings organized to increase the quality of education and prepare university students for business life.

Profession Promotion Days 2/3

- Results 1/2: Türkiye Çocuklara Yeniden Özgürlük Vafkı(TÇYÖV), which is a foundation that supports disadvantaged children's freedom and was established to reintegrate children into a community who have been subjected to crime at some point in their lives, aims to reach international standards of the Juvenile Justice System in Turkey. It aims to eliminate the risks that push the child to crime. . The high school senior and graduated students who are in this foundation, will take an exam to get an education for the career they want. As JCI Kadıköy, we aim to shed light on the future of these children. We aim to introduce them to different occupational groups and to encourage them to study at universities while supporting them to plan the most appropriate education for them. In this direction, we made a process planning of the project named "Meslek Tanıtım Günleri" with our project team which includes four people. While organizing the project which is will end after 10 weeks, we cared about children's preferences. Therefore occupational groups have been decided according to children's selection. Our participants consisted of volunteers who were experts in their careers. There were also valuable names from other JCI branch members as well. The occupational groups introduced to our students are as follows; space engineering, mechanical engineering, civil engineering, environmental engineering, computer engineering, industrial engineering, food engineering, psychology, counseling and psychological cognition, administrative sciences, social media management, physiotherapy and rehabilitation, pharmacy, nutrition and dietetics, architecture, sociology, mathematics teaching, physical education teaching, and coaching.

Burcu Büyükyenigün, one of our project team member, determined the needs of the project by collaborating with TÇYÖV Social Worker Salim Dursun for the implementation of the project. She was responsible for the establishment of the team, the distribution of tasks, and the flow of the project. İlayda Suvarioğlu and Emir Şanlı who are members of the team were responsible for the preparation of the visuals related to the project and the preparation of the visuals by social media formats. Melis Korkmaz, one of our project team members, was responsible for the communication with our volunteers who showed their support by attending the "Meslek Tanıtım Günleri" and also finding solutions in case of a possible problem.

Before starting our project, we had an acquaintance and information meeting with our volunteers who agreed to share the important points and experiences of their profession with our children.

The purpose of this meeting was to guide the participants so that both children and participants would not experience any negative situations. Since the target population is a sensitive group, another purpose of the meeting was to inform them about how to express the information they will convey to the children. At the same time, it had to be observed whether the participants were suitable for the project. Since we were going to work with a sensitive children group, attention should be paid to every word spoken. A wrong word or misdirection could trigger children's past experiences and negatively affect their future. With this meeting, the psychological suitability of the participants was also checked, and important points were discussed for the efficient progress of the project. In addition, during the online presentation, it was stated that the children would not open their cameras due to their situation (for this reason, no images of the children were taken in the project).

Profession Promotion Days 3/3

- Results 2/2:

TÇYÖV Social Worker Salim Dursun conveyed the necessary and important information about the foundation and children to our volunteers. The suitability of the participants for the project was checked and he shared information about how our volunteers should approach questions that may arise. It was an important step of the project since the target population is a sensitive group. According to the flow determined in our project, two professional groups will be introduced each week and two volunteers will participate in this direction. Approximately half an hour would be allocated to both of our participants, and the event would last for one hour each week. In addition to this time, 20 minutes was allocated for children to ask their questions to participants.

"Meslek Tanıtım Günleri" project, which started on February 27, 2021, and ended on May 2, 2021, considering that students are in the exam period. The activity hours needed to be suitable for children's studying hours, and in this direction, our activity, which was held on Saturdays first, was later taken to Sundays according to their study schedule.

Our visuals were prepared for the announcement of the attendees every week and shared on our social media accounts. To achieve the highest efficiency in the project, we helped our participants with questions prepared by our team and which we assumed to be ideal for children to get to know the professions. While sharing their experiences in the events, our volunteer participants, who are experts in their careers, drew attention to the job description of their profession, the difficulties and golden rules of the profession they perform, their social life with the profession, the areas that students should develop themselves, and gave valuable advice to the students in this direction. During the event, the students interactively had a say and had the opportunity to talk one-on-one with the participant whenever they wanted to ask questions. After every event, participation certificates have been shared with our participants which are prepared by our project team.

We held a meeting with our students to get feedback from our project, which was completed at the end of a 10-week process. Learning their evaluations was very important for our team to ensure the sustainability of the project in the next period. We received their feedback to be taken into consideration in the next term, and with the pleasure, we got from shedding light on our students' plans, we ended our "Meslek Tanıtım Günleri" project.

Additionally, the decision had taken to meet again in the university preference period to be held after the university entrance exam. Our volunteers who contributed to our project by promoting their professions were also decided to help students if they wanted to get support during the preference period for universities. We support students to reach great positions in their careers by receiving a quality education. For this reason, we decided to create a mentoring program for our students who will enter the university. Therefore, we aim to create a team that will support our students in their career planning and to shed light on their future in university life. Following these decisions, we ended our "Meslek Tanıtım Günleri" project. We wish for a world where the freedoms of children who have been subjected to crime at some point in their lives, are protected and where more attempts are made to reintegrate them into society. We will continue to fulfill our responsibility in this regard.

Ensuring inclusive and equitable quality education and supporting lifelong learning for all. As JCI Istanbul, we believe that everyone has an equal chance to reach quality education and we think that life-long education processes should be indispensable in people's lives. We aim to be a leading institution in quality education with the activities we have developed in this context. JCI Istanbul always prioritizes education as its corporate culture. For this reason, all members directly or indirectly embraced and supported this project.
- JCI Istanbul Academy also aims to create an economy within the scope of donations to the local branch on the Invest phenomenon included in the JCI Action plan. It not only meets the needs of branch members with up-to-date trainings, but also provides training to people outside the branch, introducing them to JCI Istanbul membership. When examined in this context, JCI Istanbul Academy is both an income model and a human resource acquisition model.
- Thanks to the events held in 2020, nearly 10 panels were held and contributed to the entrepreneurship ecosystem. A productive environment was created for students and JCI members and the project gained its own network. This positive environment and the interactions created are the biggest proof that the project is on the right track. The most important effect that pleased us in this project was the young audience we reached. Students had a pleasant time at the tasting events organized within the scope of the events and had the opportunity to get acquainted with the values and vision of JCI.
- Results: Thanks to the panels held in 2020, nearly 10 panels contributed to the entrepreneurship ecosystem. Thanks to the activities that were very productive for students and JCI members, feedbacks that could serve as references for future periods were obtained. One of the biggest outputs of this project is to take place in the education ecosystem and to ensure that potential JCI members are brought to the branch. In addition, future brand representatives, industry professionals and entrepreneurs will improve themselves and reach important points in the society thanks to these events. JCI Academy has also established a student pool in order to evaluate these young people throughout their entire life. Thanks to this pool created, the stage of the students who receive education will be determined after the process and they will be encouraged to enter the entrepreneurial ecosystem. The project is also designed as a model that generates income for the branch. Thanks to the donations collected from the events held in 2019, the branch gained revenue. It is aimed to establish online donation systems in order to transform the event, which was moved to the online platform due to the pandemic in 2020, into a revenue-generating model. Thus, the branch will be in a position to be funded through a project.
