Australia Post's 202 UN Global Compact Communication on Progress

Dear Mr Secretary-General,

I am pleased to confirm that the Australia Post Group continues to operate in accordance with and actively support the Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact (UNGC) relating to Human Rights, Labour, the Environment and Anti-Corruption and, accordingly, to submit our 2021 Communication of Progress (CoP).

Australia Post first became a signatory to the UNGC in 2010 and we remain committed to incorporating the UNGC principles in our business strategy, culture and daily operations.

Our 2021 Annual Report and Corporate Responsibility Index, which incorporates our CoP, highlights our progress in implementing the Ten Principles over the last 12 months. It also reflects our ongoing commitment to the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The report details the many steps Australia Post has taken this last year to deliver for Australia while addressing extraordinary challenges presented by COVID-19. Today, more than ever, Australia Post is at the heart of Australian communities, connecting them to each other and the world. While this year has been one of the most challenging in our more than 200 years of operation, as Australia's leading logistics and integrated services business, our objective remains the same: we support our customers to grow and communities to thrive; we challenge ourselves to create products that people value and trust; and we strive to always deliver great service and value to our customers and the community.

We believe addressing the SDGs is critical to seeing our customers, communities and our own business prosper and become more inclusive. The SDGs are the foundation of our 2020-2022 Group Corporate Responsibility Plan - Everyone Matters: Our plan for inclusive and sustainable prosperity, which outlines clear commitments to create new forms of economic, social and environmental value for our business and the Australian community.

Australia Post seeks to operate transparently and we re-commit to sharing our financial and non-financial information with our stakeholders using our primary channels of communication.

I am immensely proud of the way our people continue to work together, supporting each other and the communities in which we operate to help deliver a sustainable future.

Yours sincerely
