UNITED NATIONS GLOBAL COMPACT 2020

United Nations Global Compact Communication on Progress and Advanced COP self-assessment

Below is our self-assessment on how we have met the GC Advanced Level criteriand links to our implementation or planned implementation. We have referenced and included links to a number of publicly available documents that explain our work in more detail, including our 2020 Annual Report and Sustainability Fact Book

Chief Executive's statement of support for the UN Global Compact (2020 and 2021)

Rio Tinto has supported the UN Global Compact (UNGC) since its inception more than 20 years ago. We value the UNGC's leadership in promoting the private sector's contribution to realisation of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs) and to addressing climate change. In 2020 we re-examined our approach to the UN SIGs to identify how we can work more effectively with governments, civil society and others to pursue meaningful impact on development. We decided to primarily focus on the two goals - SDG 12 (responsible consumption and production) and SDG 8 (decent work and economic growth) - that we feel are most aligned to operating our business responsibly and where we can make our greatest impact.

2020 was a difficult year for Rio Tinto. Our destruction of the rock shelters at Juukan Gorge, in Western Australia, was a breach of our values. We have been working closely with the Puutu Kunti Kurrama and Pinikura (PKKP) people to rebuild trust in our relationship and remediate the site where possible under their guidance. We have also made a number of commitments to rebuild trust with our other Traditional Owner partners, and the Indigenous community more broadly. We've been listening more to affected stakeholders to learn how we can do better. We are modernising existing agreements with Traditional Owners and increasing the number of Indigenous people in leadership roles in our business to ensure these voices are heard. We undertook a comprehensive review of our approach to Communities and Social Performance which has resulted in a significant organisation restructure, increased technical expertise, more meaningful engagement with traditional Owners and increasing the number of Indigenous people in leadership roles in our business to ensure these voices are heard. We undertook a comprehensive review of our approach to Communities and an update of our standards and procedures. In September 2021 we released our first Communities and Social Performance Commitments Disclosure Report which details our progress against the commitments.

While there has been broad consensus on the need to address climate change for decades, there has not been sufficient action. In 2021 we launched our operations and producing the commodities required to transition to a low carbon future. We see ourselves as long-term stewards of natural resources, including land and water, and the ecosystems they support. We also understand that the energy transition is as much about people and communities as it is about the environment and climate change. We are committed to supporting a just transition that is fair, socially inclusive, recognises the specific risks to marginalised and indigenous groups within host communities and that helps provide opportunities for continued access to decent work, good health and sustainable livelihoods.

Over the past two years, our people have demonstrated resilience and flexibility in helping us manage the impact of COVID-19 across our business. I am immensely proud and grateful of their efforts to protect the health and safety of our people, keep our operations running while also partnering with governments and other local authorities to support our neighbouring communities manage the impact of COVID-19 across our business.
