

İSTANBUL BİLGİ UNIVERSITY UNITED NATIONS GLOBAL COMPACT COMMUNICATION ON ENGAGEMENT 2018-2021

İstanbul
Bilgi University

From the Rector

I am glad to present our fifth document of Communication on Engagement in which we express our commitment to and support for the principles of the United Nations Global Compact.

Between the years 2018-2021, we continued to support and spread the principles of UNGC with many activities both administrative and academic levels. Within this scope, we have expanded the area of our influence with various activities that our faculties, centers and other units have implemented as a sign of our ongoing commitment to UNGC principles and support to Sustainable Development Goals.

As we always emphasize, contributing to our society and environment is one of our fundamental priorities. Since universities are among the leading institutions that guide societies, their decisions and actions pertaining sustainability will set an example for the society. İstanbul Bilgi University shapes the life on its campuses as fully aware of this responsibility.

From our last announcement of commitment till now, we have stated our social engagement policy, which is well-rooted in our history and is built upon the principles of full enjoyment of human rights and freedoms by all, gender equality, social inclusion, diversity, and sustainable development. Social engagement at BİLGİ includes, but is not limited to research, projects, seminars, workshops, courses, conferences, trainings, and summer schools, all of which aim to empower vulnerable groups, raise awareness on social issues, and build capacity within civil society, and public and private sectors. BİLGİ aims to provide a safe space for the discussion of all social issues. (<https://www.bilgi.edu.tr/en/university/about/institutional-principles/community-services/social-engagement-policy/>) Furthermore, two academic centers and a legal clinic under the roof BİLGİ Faculty of Law have begun to carry out their studies in recent years.

With this document, we declare our ongoing commitment to the UN Global Compact Goals and our vision for sustainability.

Sincerely,

Prof. M. Ege Yazgan

CENTER FOR CIVIL SOCIETY STUDIES (CCSS)

The main purpose of the Center for Civil Society Studies (<http://stcm.bilgi.edu.tr>), established in 2003, is to support the development of civil society both in Turkey and in the world. The Center aims to contribute to this progress by means of conducting scientific research, application and training programs, publications and documentation on the social, economic, and cultural dimensions of this development. Working in cooperation with official and private institutions, and non-governmental organizations, it strives to contribute to the accumulation of knowledge in related fields. The center encompasses three separate units: the NGO Training and Research Unit, the Youth Studies Unit, and the Child Studies Unit. It also includes BİLGİ Incubation Center and the Master's Program in Social Projects and NGO Management. In addition, it offers courses and conducts studies related to civil society in various undergraduate programs. The relatively newly established BİLGİ Social Incubation Center conducts workshops for civil society initiatives working on rights in the city (e.g., CSOs, initiatives, platforms, and informal groups) in order to build their institutional capacities by providing them with various learning opportunities.

The Social Incubation Center: (<https://sosyalkulucka.bilgi.edu.tr>) CCSS stands out with The Social Incubation Center, located on İstanbul Bilgi University's santralistanbul Campus, established in December 2014. It was designed as a resource center that could be used to meet the changing needs of civil society, particularly in İstanbul. The center is engaged in activities for grassroots organizations that need assistance in developing their organizational capacity in a particular area. It is the first incubation center in Turkey that supports non-profit organizations. The Social Incubation Center has recently begun to create learning platforms where organizations and initiatives from outside of İstanbul and abroad can learn from one another. It currently extends assistance to civil society in three key areas:

*Making available various learning opportunities for organizational development in the areas of resource development, collaboration with volunteers, strategic orientation, project creation/management, network formation, and advocacy to CSOs and citizen initiatives by making available office space, consultancy, and participation in mentoring, workshops and training.

* Supporting civil actors through workshops open to civil society and trainings specially designed for organizations in order to help them become more familiar with certain topics, to raise their awareness and to improve their skills.

*Formulating solutions for the need for physical space of CSOs in Istanbul such as office space and locations for training and meetings.

Istanbul Bilgi University Child Studies Unit (<http://cocuk.bilgi.edu.tr>): The Unit, founded in 2007, works in the training, research, and advocacy fields aiming at the realization of children's rights, under the Civil Society Studies Center. With the active participation of the children, the Unit endeavors to contribute to the policies developed concerning children in Turkey. The main stakeholders of the Unit are children aged between 0-18, people and organizations working for and around the children and those who contribute to the development of child policies.

Istanbul Bilgi University Youth Studies Unit (<http://genclik.bilgi.org.tr>) Founded in 2006, the Unit has also been working under the Civil Society Studies Center of İstanbul Bilgi University. The Unit has been running projects on 4 main program areas, Advocacy, Research, Networking, and Modeling in order to contribute to the recognition of youth work and to develop youth policy proposals for a more a democratic youth policy in Turkey. As a principle, the Unit prefers to work in cooperation with both active youth organizations and public stakeholders in the field. For the publications of the Unit: <http://genclik.bilgi.org.tr/yayinlar/>

All these units under the CSSC roof carried out many UNGC related activities between the years 2018-2021.

İstanbul Bilgi University Center for Migration Research (<http://goc.bilgi.edu.tr/>), as the first migration research center to carry out large scale, multi-dimensional scientific research in Türkiye, started its studies as a unit of the Social, Economic and Political Research Center at BİLGİ in 2002 and was founded in 2005 as a separate research center. Historically, Türkiye has been affected by, and has produced, diverse forms of migratory movements and refugee flows. It is within such a climate that the Center for Migration Research has formulated its mission to strengthen institutional coordination among researchers through several networking activities, support new research and joint projects, and produce reliable information based on research findings that can contribute to realistic policy and decision-making processes.

Between the years 2018-2021, the Center performed the following UNGC related activities:

HUMAN RIGHTS LAW RESEARCH CENTER

The Center

(<http://insanhaklarimerkezi.bilgi.edu.tr/en/>) at BİLGİ was established in late 2000 with considerable support from BİLGİ Faculty of Law. The Center's sphere of activity covers all fields of human rights law. The approach that predominates the Center's activities is that every state of affair includes a "rights perspective" and thus, a perception of enhancement that prioritizes the utilization of law should be promoted. Therefore, inter alia, the Center's activities focus on women's human rights, domestic and international human rights protection mechanisms, anti-discrimination, minority rights, refugee rights, freedom of expression and internet freedoms, access to justice and judiciary, human rights education, and human rights activism.

Building on EU expertise acquired within BİLGİ, the European Institute is now the primary focus for the interdisciplinary study of processes of integration in the politics, legal systems, society, and economies of Europe.

To this end, the European Institute supports interdisciplinary academic programs on EU studies and undertakes interdisciplinary research with a primary focus on themes such as processes of integration, Europeanization, multiculturalism, diversity, and the construction of European identities.

Online Discussion	TÜRKİYE AS EU'S PARTNER: LESSONS FROM THE MIGRATION CRISIS AND PREPARATION FOR THE NEXT ONE Online discussion was organized by EuroPolicy in cooperation with the Prague Office Heinrich-Böll-Stiftung a EURACTIV Slovakia. As the migration wave from Afghanistan intensifies and may get even stronger in the upcoming months, EU has been evaluating its options to avoid a disastrous déjà vu of 2015, when basic principles of the European as well as international law were disrespected, and migrants had been constrained to execute their basic human rights, including the right to seek an asylum. However, EU Member States did not find a replacement of Dublin Regulation, and, instead, they have been pushing for an extended cooperation in migration handling with third-world countries. Turkey has certainly helped the EU but the price, especially the political one, had been high for the block. An abuse of migrants to address own foreign policy issues has already become part of global power policy, and Ankara did not hesitate to engage in it. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Has the Union learned from previous cooperation with Ankara? - What is the situation of migrants in Turkey, how had 4 million of them manage to integrate, and how is the atmosphere changing with a growing number of Afghan refugees? - How does a political power handle the new influx, and can the Turkish regime misuse the crisis for its own gain? OPENING REMARKS Adéla Jurečková, Director, Heinrich-Böll-Stiftung Prague PANELISTS Ayhan Kaya, Professor of Politics and Jean Monnet Chair of the European Politics of Interculturalism, Department of International Relations, İstanbul Bilgi University Šárka Antošová, Migration Expert, Amnesty International Czech Republic Sylvia Tiryaki, Political Scientist, BISLA MODERATOR Lucia Yar, Acting Editor-In-Chief, EURACTIV Slovakia You can watch the discussion here: https://youtu.be/9ywlrOWTa8E	October 26, 2021

RESEARCH CENTER for INTERNATIONAL TRADE LAW and ARBITRATION

Istanbul Bilgi University
RESEARCH CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL TRADE
LAW AND ARBITRATION

Istanbul Bilgi University

(<https://utitam-wcp.bilgi.edu.tr/>) is one of the 21 academic institutions with which the World Trade Organization has entered into cooperation for the purpose of providing technical assistance and training for achieving one of the most crucial objectives of the WTO, that is building the trade capacities of developing countries. Since 2010, WTO have organized “Regional Trade Policy Courses” in İstanbul in cooperation with İstanbul Bilgi University Faculty of Law and the Turkish Ministry of Economy for government officials and specialists from Central and Eastern Europe, Central Asia and the Caucasus Countries. The sixth edition of these courses was held in summer 2015. As a rather important geopolitical result of this longstanding cooperation between İstanbul Bilgi University and the WTO for both Türkiye and the region where Türkiye is situated, İstanbul Bilgi University has been selected as one of the seven WTO Chairs for the Phase 2 of the WTO Chairs Programme in 2014.

WTO Chairs Programme (WCP) is one of the WTO’s flagship products that also provides some financial support to beneficiary institutions for a period of four years. It facilitates continuous interaction between these institutions and other think-tanks and academic institutions across the world. The WTO wants to promote research on WTO-related issues among young scholars, and to reinforce the relationship between the WTO and the academic community both at the national and regional level. Through İstanbul Bilgi University’s analytical input into the formulation and implementation of trade policy, the Chair will contribute to enhancing the participation of Türkiye into the international trading environment. Türkiye already plays a significant role in world trade and the evolving global governance regime and the support that İstanbul Bilgi University can provide in this regard through academic work and research is certainly remarkable.

İstanbul
Bilgi University

The WTO Chair at İstanbul Bilgi University is one of the seven WTO Chairs awarded in 2014, through a tough and highly competitive selection process, involving some 77 academic institutions. The WTO Secretariat was assisted in the selection by an external Advisory Body, comprising 20 academics, who act as advisors to the Chairs Programme. İstanbul Bilgi University thus joins an already existing network of WTO Chairs, established in Phase I which was first launched in 2010. It now includes a total of 21 Chairs around the globe. The establishment of the WTO Chair at İstanbul Bilgi University as recognizing the commitment of the academic community in Türkiye, which has played a vital role in educating, training and analysing matters related to trade policy and international trade, not only at the national level, but also at the regional and international level. BİLGİ is one of the largest universities in Türkiye with a strong focus on research, training and education, including full-time and distance learning programmes. It has numerous research centres and institutes and a very large number of researchers.

The WTO Chair Holder position that will be held by Asst. Prof. Pinar Artıran from İstanbul Bilgi University Faculty of Law, aims at supporting and promoting trade-related academic activities by universities and research institutions in developing and least-developed countries. The project of BİLGİ Faculty of Law that was awarded the WTO Chair entails establishing an operational Research Centre on International Trade Law and Arbitration from 2015 onwards. The establishment of the Research Center was approved by Turkish Council of High Education and the approval decision was published at the Turkish Official Gazette on September 28, 2015.

Award of the Chair title, is a proof of BİLGİ's international success and its competence in international trade law. Through projected activities of our research centre, BİLGİ is planning to help shaping an efficient and sustainable international trade policy on matters related to international trade law, arbitration and WTO in Türkiye and in its immediate region in broader sense. In this context, it shall collaborate with other academic and research institutions, chambers of commerce, consultancy firms which are active in the area of the international trade and thus are stakeholders. WTO Chair title is a very important and precious achievement not only for BİLGİ but also for Türkiye with the leading position that it assumes in its region.

The new Research Centre on International Trade Law and Arbitration will organize training programs within and outside the university, and trade and arbitration related research will be undertaken. By signing bilateral exchange and cooperation agreements with the other six WTO Chair Holder universities of the second phase, the international exchange of information will be encouraged. This project will thus further strengthen Türkiye's leading position in its region.

WTO Chairs Programme at İstanbul Bilgi University was officially launched and the Chair title was awarded by the WTO Deputy Director-General Xiazhoun Yi on behalf of the WTO Director General Roberto Azevedo on February 12, 2015.

The Research Center performed the following activities within this time period:

OTHER ACTIVITIES RELATED WITH UNGC PRINCIPLES

İstanbul Bilgi University Pro Bono Network/Clearinghouse (Faculty of Law)

İstanbul Bilgi University Pro Bono Clearinghouse (probono.bilgi.edu.tr), as part of BİLGİ Faculty of Law, is an “access to justice” project. Since 2006, it has been bringing together NGOs seeking legal support and lawyers that volunteer to provide free legal services. Thus far, more than fifty NGOs and hundreds of individuals have received pro bono legal services. Objectives of this project are as follows:

- *Legal empowerment of NGOs.
- *Raising awareness about profession and social responsibility.
- *Increasing NGO awareness on preventive legal services.
- *Building a pro bono culture among law firms in İstanbul.

Since the beginning of the project, thousands of individuals and more than sixty NGO/civil society movements have been partnered with lawyers. The network has grown since its inception. Today, law firms contact the Center to participate rather than the center reaching out to them

The network developed contact with the local bar in İstanbul and plans a national and international pro bono conference. It participates in PILnet’s Annual Global Forum. It also developed a “Legal Health Check” document for the sole benefit of NGOs. Pro Bono Network/Clearing House has not been not active since December 2018..

Legal Clinics (Faculty of Law)

İstanbul Bilgi University Legal Clinics are formed under the roof of Faculty of Law and have been active since 2003. With the partnership of prisons and community centers, Legal Clinics focus on individuals with low socio-economic status who have problems with access to justice and inmates. The clinical education program of İstanbul Bilgi University Faculty of Law began in 2003. The method is based on “learning by doing” instead of experiencing theory in a protective and artificial environment such as the classroom.

Objectives are:

- *Legal empowerment for the target groups (every clinic has a different target group)
- *Skill building for the students (legal writing, public speaking, research)

Common learning aims for students:

- *Use law as a tool to empower people
- *Discuss law in a critical fashion
- *Identify the law applicable to the matter at hand including ethical rules in the profession
- *Use communication skills

There are two types of legal clinics:

The first one is a public legal education program (street law clinic) that have been running since 2004. In this program, law students teach fundamental legal notions and provide basic legal knowledge to citizens in accordance with the principles of adult/interactive learning. The course is a rare example of a course being taught in a prison setting anywhere in the world. It has been operating in five prisons in three different districts of İstanbul. Over 900 inmates attended the courses given by clinical students in the last decade. This clinic ended in June 2019.

The other clinic is the client counselling program, which has two subject matters (general applied law clinic and cyber law clinic). The counselling program students have client interviews to determine legal problems; carry out research and write legal documents based on these problems, and lastly, they give presentations and provide advice. The most recent program (2014-ongoing) is an 'Applied Law Clinic on Cyber Rights.' In this program, students undertake human rights violation cases regarding freedom of speech, expression and information.
