- As a business we have made a commitment to reduce our emissions both internally through efficiency projects, and externally by supporting low carbon sustainable development projects (offsetting our emissions)
- By offsetting we are able to compensate for the emissions we cannot reduce internally
- This offers us an effective, immediate way to meet our carbon reduction goals and support the transition to a low carbon economy globally
- In 2019, we calculated and offset the emissions associated with our business to net zero to achieve carbon neutral status.

Understanding emission scopes

Situated on the elevated slopes of Rwamagana District in Rwanda, this project became the largest grid-connected solar park in East Africa following its commissioning in 2014. It is expected to deliver an average of more than 15,000 MWh of clean electricity to the Rwandan grid. The project is hosted by the Agahozo-Shalom Youth Village, which is an orphanage for vulnerable youth.

In addition to delivering emissions reductions to help take urgent action to combat climate change (SDG 13), the project delivers a number of other sustainable development benefits.
