Dear Stakeholders,

We can collectively agree that climate change remains the most significant global challenge in the coming years. While some countries are recovering from the immense challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic and the associated economic consequences and societal disruption, we must strive to ensure that commitments to climate and sustainable development do not become a second-tier priority in the recovery.

In acknowledging the urgency to achieve a positive impact on climate, nature and people with a sense of urgency and ambition, APRIL joined a global community of progressive companies when we announced our APRIL 2030 commitments and targets to support the achievement of SDGs and beyond in Indonesia.

We are transforming as a sustainable business and it is important to ensure that this is not only a just transformation for all, but also a positive one for climate, people and planet. We are invested in the policies and frameworks to make this happen.

With this letter and the submission of our 2021 Sustainability Report as part of our annual Communication on Progress, I can confirm that PT. Riau Andalan Pulp and Paper (PT. RAPP), the operating arm of APRIL group, supports the Ten Principles of the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) on human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption and is committed to incorporating these principles into our operations.

As documented in our Sustainability Report, we are committed to reporting on our performance and progress with the ongoing implementation of the different elements of our sustainability strategy. This includes reporting on our continuing efforts to improve our operational efficiency, especially in energy and water consumption, and our use of renewable and cleaner sources.

We look forward to continued engagement with our stakeholders in Indonesia and other countries as we evolve our sustainability vision.

Yours sincerely,
