

UN INDIA
VOLUNTEERS

National Children's Day - November 14

Significance

National Children's Day holds significant importance as it serves as a reminder to society about the value and well-being of children. The day highlights the rights, needs, and challenges that children face in various aspects of their lives. It emphasizes the importance of investing in their future, promoting their welfare, and ensuring their overall development.

This day also encourages individuals, communities, and governments to prioritize children's education, health, safety, and emotional well-being. It is an opportunity to celebrate children's achievements, raise awareness about their rights, and advocate for a nurturing and inclusive environment that supports their growth and happiness.

Children's Day Speech Ideas for Teachers

Anecdotes

Anecdotes are the best way to hold attention. Choose a child-relevant topic. Build an interesting story around it and narrate it at the beginning of your speech. Topics such as friendship or honesty, ones that children are familiar with hearing but need more light. Once children are attracted to it, draw them into the moral of the story with various other instances.

Tips For Children's Day Speech

You can follow the below-given tips to enhance your speech delivery on the occasion of Children's Day Celebration.

- Include quotes of Jawaharlal Nehru.
- Share your personal experiences.
- Tell the importance of celebrating children's day.

- Share knowledge- Include the children rights as per Indian Constitution.

Reason For Celebration

Although this is the conventional way of most children's day speeches, it would be of a good start if you begin recollecting the reason why children's day is celebrated. Maybe you can reframe the sentence interestingly with your lilt. Ask "Does everyone know why children's day is celebrated?" Once the audience responds, elaborate on it and enjoy the interactiveness.

Focus On Child Problems

This is the best time to enlighten the children about child labor, child abuse, and other child-related problems and teach them how to help another child in need. Good habits such as helping blind students write exams, offering education to underprivileged children, and other compassionate activities towards their counterparts can be cultivated on this occasion.

Become A Child

All teachers have a barrier between them and the children just to retain their respect. For once, let your stern voice lose and talk in a child-friendly manner. Use questions such as 'what is children's day?' 'why do we celebrate children's day?' 'why do teachers entertain on children's day?' and such simple questions that children generally have on their mind. Think from a child's point of view about the hot topics in your school at that time. Work on it and present it in an easily understandable format.

Children's Day Speech Ideas For Students

In some other schools, students take up the responsibility of conducting events. So here are some children's day speech ideas for students to work on:

- Highlight on the importance of children.
- Give a warm feeling to the audience by talking about the best things of being children.

- Talk about children as the future of the country.
- Compare Jawaharlal Nehru's vision for children and the aspirations of children today.
- Talk about the teachers-parents-students relationship.
- Give an insight on how important is education for children.

Ways to celebrate National Children's Day:

- Spend quality time with children, engaging in activities they enjoy.
- Organise special events or parties dedicated to children.
- Support children's causes and donate to organizations that promote their well-being.
- Educate children about their rights and encourage them to express their thoughts and ideas.
- Volunteer at schools, community centres, or children's hospitals.
- Organize fun games and competitions for children to participate in.

- Advocate for children's rights and raise awareness about issues affecting them.
- Create artwork or crafts with children, allowing them to express their creativity.
- Read books or tell stories that celebrate children and their achievements.
- Provide opportunities for children to engage in acts of kindness and give back to the community.
- Here are some ideas to celebrate National Children's Day:
- Organize a picnic: Plan a picnic with your family and friends at a nearby park or beach. Pack some snacks, drinks, and games to make it more fun and enjoyable.
- Host a talent show: Encourage children to showcase their talents by organizing a talent show. It could be anything from singing, dancing, painting, or storytelling.
- Visit an amusement park: Take children to an amusement park or water park and let them have fun on the rides and slides.

- Organize a movie screening: Host a movie screening for children at home or in a community hall. Choose age-appropriate movies that are both entertaining and educational.
- Create art and craft activities: Set up an art and craft station with supplies such as paper, glue, scissors, and paint. Encourage children to create their own masterpieces.
- Play games: Organize outdoor games such as cricket, football, or badminton for children to play with their friends.
- Donate to charity: Teach children the importance of giving back by donating clothes, toys, or books to a local charity or orphanage.
- Cook together: Involve children in cooking by preparing simple recipes such as sandwiches, pizzas, or cupcakes.
- Read together: Spend time reading books with children and encourage them to develop a love for reading.

Celebrate & Raise Awareness For Children Rights

- 1. List Of Children Rights: Children have a right to a living standard, healthcare, education, and good services. A kid has the right to be safeguarded against abuse, exploitation, prejudice, and neglect inside and outside the home. They have a right to play in safe areas, good child-rearing practices, and recognition of children's developing abilities. Children have the right to freedom of choice, freedom of expression, freedom of thought, freedom from fear, freedom from parental control over their bodies, and freedom from oppression. All children's rights include the defence of children's physical integrity.
- 2. Minors' rights: Minors' rights are impacted by several situations, including child prostitution, child pornography, child sales, and military usage of children. Children are partially under the control of their parents. Children's rights acknowledge the basic rights that all people have, including the right to life, the rule against discrimination, and the right to dignity via the preservation of one's physical and mental integrity (protection against slavery, torture and bad treatments, etc.) Civil and political rights for children include things like the right to an identity, the right to a country, etc.

Economic, social, and cultural rights for children include the right to an education, the right to a reasonable standard of living, the right to health, and others. Individual rights for children include the right to live with one's parents, the right to an education, the right to protection, etc. Collective rights for children include those of disabled children, children of immigrants, children from underrepresented groups, and children of refugees.

- 3. Constitutional Rights To Children: The following constitutional protections are intended especially for children: Article 21A: Right to free and compulsory elementary education for all children in the 6-14 year age group Article 24: Right to be protected from any hazardous employment till the age of 14 years Article 39 (e): Right to be protected from being abused and forced by economic necessity to enter occupations unsuited to their age or strength Article 39 (f): Right to equal opportunities and facilities to develop in a healthy manner and in conditions of freedom and dignity and guaranteed protection of childhood and youth against exploitation and against moral and material abandonment Article 45: Right to early childhood care and education for all children until they complete the age of six years

- In addition, children in India enjoy the same rights as adults, whether they are male or female: Article 14: Right to equality Article 15: Right against discrimination Article 21: Right to personal liberty and due process of law Article 23: Right to being protected from being trafficked and forced into bonded labour Article 29: Right of minorities to the protection of their interests Article 46: Right of weaker sections of the people to be protected from social injustice and all forms of exploitation Article 47: Right to nutrition and standard of living and improved public health

• 4. How To Raise Awareness For Children

Rights? Teach the children about their rights. Schools should conduct special sessions to raise awareness among children. With the help of plays and activities, make children understand slavery, child abuse and their rights regarding the same.

Celebrate - Prepare Practice and Present

Celebrate National Children's Day with your children at schools, in your community, at home, and with your family. This special day is an opportunity to cherish the youth and innocence that children bring into our lives. To make this celebration even more memorable, consider capturing a photo of your festivities and sharing it with us via WhatsApp at +91 9944313953 or by emailing it to unvolunteersindia2015@gmail.com.

In recognition of your commitment to celebrating children, you will receive an individual appreciation certificate from UN Volunteers-India. What makes this certificate even more unique is that it is signed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the former Prime Minister of India, who played a pivotal role in establishing Children's Day in India.

Remember that the celebration can extend throughout the entire month of November, allowing you ample time to prepare, practice, and present your creative and meaningful contributions. Whether it's a fun activity, an educational event, or a heartfelt gesture, your efforts in promoting the well-being and happiness of children are truly appreciated.

Let's come together and make this Children's Day in November a month filled with joy, love, and learning for our young ones, as we honor their importance in our lives and society.

NOV 14
CHILDREN'S DAY

Jawahar Lal Nehru

Jawahar Lal Nehru