

JANUARY 24, 2024

National Girl Child Day

A massive procession for awareness

MAHIMA COLLEGE OF NURSING - BALLARI - KARNATAKA

Daly Felicitus - Students' coordinator

On January 24, 2024, Mahima College of Nursing, in collaboration with the District Hospital Administration [Ghosha] Ballari, organized a procession to mark the National Girl Child Day. The event aimed to raise awareness about the challenges and opportunities that girls face in Indian society, and to promote their education, health, and empowerment.

The students of Mahima College of Nursing, led by their tutors, displayed banners and placards with slogans and messages highlighting the importance of girls' rights and dignity. They also performed skits and songs to showcase the talents and aspirations of girls. The procession was attended by the Principal and Management of the college, who appreciated the students for their efforts and enthusiasm.

Mahima College of Nursing is proud to be a part of this national movement to celebrate and support the girl child, and to create a more inclusive and equitable society for them.

The National UN Volunteers-India

National Girl Child Day celebration

24 January 24

On January 24, 2024, Mahima College of Nursing, in collaboration with the District Hospital Administration [Ghosha] Ballari, organized a procession to mark the National Girl Child Day. The event aimed to raise awareness about the challenges and opportunities that girls face in Indian society, and to promote their education, health, and empowerment.

The students of Mahima College of Nursing, led by their tutors, displayed banners and placards with slogans and messages highlighting the importance of girls' rights and dignity. They also performed skits and songs to showcase the talents and aspirations of girls. The procession was attended by the Principal and Management of the college, who appreciated the students for their efforts and enthusiasm.

Mahima College of Nursing is proud to be a part of this national movement to celebrate and support the girl child, and to create a more inclusive and equitable society for them.

The parent hospital for Mahima College of Nursing is District Hospital [Ghoshia]

Ballari, which comes under Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Sciences (VIMS). The hospital provides quality health care services to the people of Ballari and surrounding areas, with a special focus on maternal and child health.

The National Girl Child Day was initiated in 2008 by the Ministry of Women and Child Development and the Government of India, to spread public awareness about the inequalities that girls face in Indian society. The day also coincides with the launch of the Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao Scheme (Save the Girl Child, Educate the Girl Child) by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2015. The scheme aims to address the issues of declining child sex ratio, female foeticide, child marriage, and gender-based violence, and to ensure the survival, protection, and education of every girl child.

The theme for National Girl Child Day 2024 is yet to be announced by the government. The theme for 2021 was 'Digital Generation, Our Generation', which focused on the role of digital technologies in empowering girls and creating new opportunities for them.

National Girl Child Day - Mahima College of Nursing, Ballari

The parent hospital for Mahima College of Nursing is District Hospital [Ghosha] Ballari, which comes under Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Sciences (VIMS). The hospital provides quality health care services to the people of Ballari and surrounding areas, with a special focus on maternal and child health.

UN SCHOOL DESIGNATE