National Girl Child Day, 24 January 24

Near Karnal, Harayana

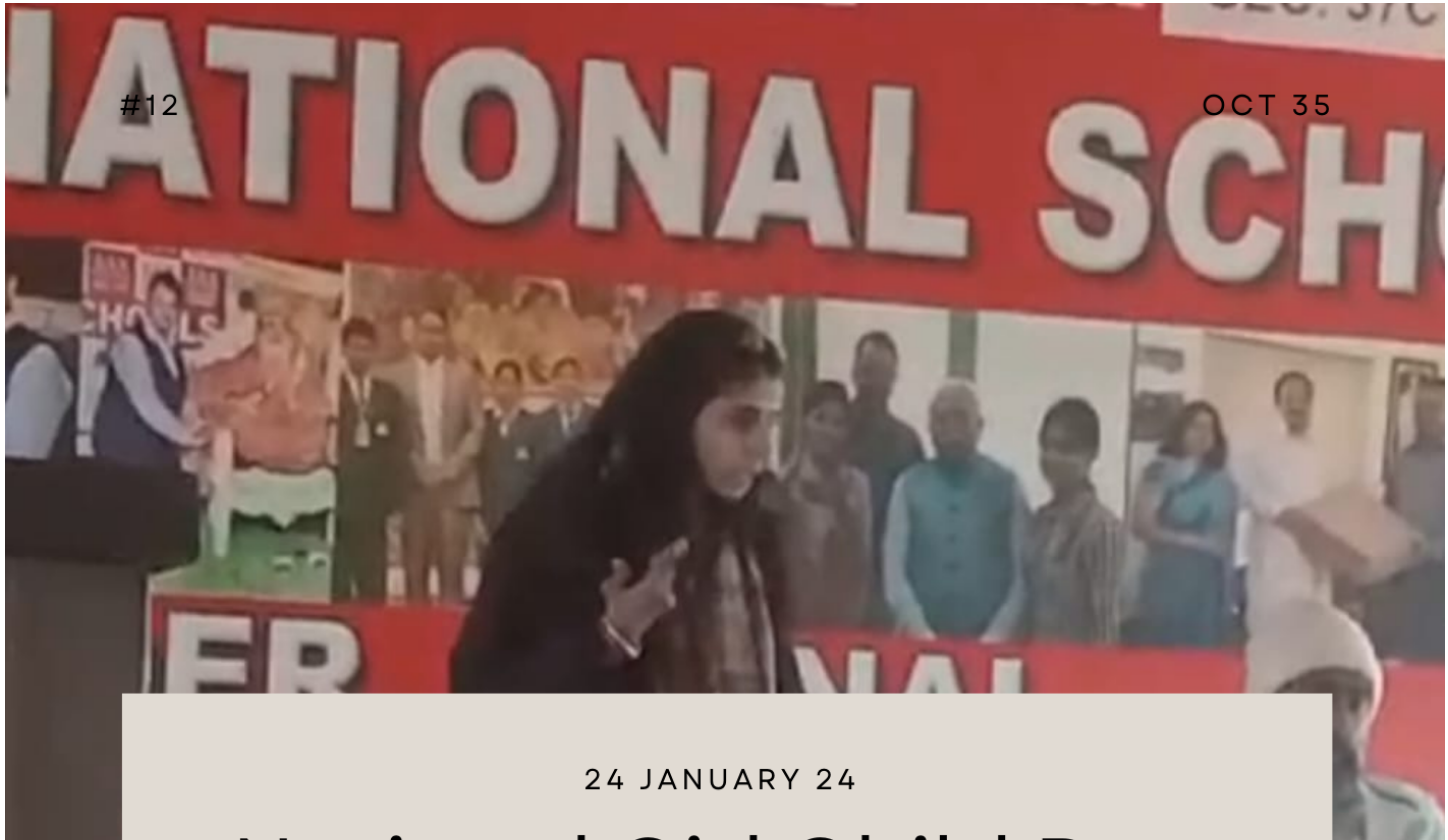

On National Girl Child Day, January 24, 2024, I led a team of volunteers to conduct a development session on safety, security, and independence of girls at a local school. The session aimed to raise awareness of the rights and potential of girls, as well as the challenges and opportunities they face in rural India. We used interactive methods such as games, stories, and role plays to engage the girls and encourage them to share their views and aspirations.

The session was a success, as the girls showed enthusiasm and curiosity about various topics, such as health, education, career, and leadership. They also expressed their concerns and fears about issues such as child marriage, domestic violence, and gender discrimination. We listened to their voices and provided them with guidance and support to overcome their barriers and pursue their dreams.

Through this session, we hoped to inspire and motivate the girls to realize their full potential and become agents of change in their communities. We also wanted to celebrate the achievements and contributions of girls in rural India, who often face multiple disadvantages and discrimination. We believe that empowering girls is not only a matter of justice and equality, but also a key to achieving sustainable development and peace.
